War Threat Over Cyprus Seen Ended

ATHENS (AP) — The peacemakers headed home today, reporting that the threat of war between Turkey and Greece over Cyprus is over.

U.S. envoy Cyrus Vance flew from Cyprus to Athens and a reliable source said he would return to Washington shortly, having completed his mission.

Secretary-General Manlio Brosio of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization told newsmen substantial understanding between the Greek and Turkish governments had been reached and the danger of conflict no longer exists.

"My mission is over," Brosio said as he left for his headquarters in Brussels.

The third peace seeker, Jose Rolz-Bennett of the United Nations, left for New York.

President Johnson's special envoy hurried into conference with Greek Foreign Minister Panayiotis Pipinelis, who later told newsmen a communique announcing a final agreement with Turkey was being drawn up. However, he said he did not expect it to be completed today.

Vance came to Athens after seven hours of talks during the night with President Makarios of Cyprus. There were indications Makarios was at least delaying a Greek-Turkish agreement to avert war over his island nation.

But Vance told newsmen in Athens he was "very hopeful peace will be preserved."

Diplomatic sources had reported earlier that Greece and Turkey were ready to announce a settlement ending Turkey's threat to invade the island 40 miles off Turkey's southern coast.

Vance had flown to Nicosia before dawn Wednesday, reportedly to get a quick yes or no from Makarios on the proposals. But it was early today before he emerged from meetings with the leader of the island's Greek Cypriot majority.

"I have had informative and constructive discussions with Archbishop Makarios and that is all I have to say," Vance told newsmen.

"I endorse that statement," added the president, who had been reported objecting to keep demands made by the Turks.

Smiles on the faces of the two men plus Vance's cautiously positive statement seemed to indicate a feeling that the Cypriot president's objecions could be worked out.

Turkey still was poised for the invasion it threatened after a battle on the island Nov. 15 in which 27 Turkish Cypriots and two Greek Cypriots were killed. Turkish jets swept low over Nicosia, the Cypriot capital, while Vance was there.

But Greece changed the orders to its armed forces on its 80-mile border with Turkey from "combat alert" to simple "readiness" and the tension eased among the Greek soldiers.

Makarios' objections reportedly centered on Turkey's demand for the disbanding of the Cypriot national guard, which Makarios claims was formed to protect the island from possible Turkish invasion.

The archbishop also was reported willing to accept Turkey's demand for the withdrawal of some 8,000-12,000 Greek soldiers on Cyprus illegally only if Turkey guaranteed never to invade the island.

Announcements 'Fog' McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says major U.S. defense policies are clearly defined for the man who will succeed Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, quitting the Pentagon for the World Bank's presidency.

But a triple play of announcements by the World Bank, White House and McNamara Wednesday night left in a fog some of the more intriguing aspects of the defense chief's switch in assignments. The statements reported:

—McNamara will take over presidency of the 107-nation World Bank after he finishes his work on the fiscal 1969 defense budget next year, probably sometime in February or shortly after.

—President Johnson maintained "the course of our participation in the war in Vietnam is firmly set, major defense policies are clearly defined" and McNamara's successor—not yet named—can carry on in McNamara's tracks "without loss of momentum or effectiveness."

—Outgoing President George D. Woods of the World Bank sounded out McNamara last April 18. McNamara indicated his interest in the post. He discussed it with Johnson, offering to stay at the Penagon "as long as he felt it necessary."

—About mid-October, Johnson asked McNamara if he still was interested. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler had prodded Johnson for the U.S. nomination for the World Bank presidency.

South Viet Troops Kill 30 Reds In Dak To Fight

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese paratroopers reported killing 130 North Vietnamese in a new battle near Dak To Wednesday while American forces flown in as bait repelled an attack by Viet Cong and Communist regulars today near the U.S. Special Forces camp at Bu Dop. American firepower stopped the Red assault in a cemetery 50 yards from the U.S. lines.

About 800 government paratroopers fought elements of the 44th North Vietnamese regiment for six hours during a sweep operation six miles northeast of Dak To, the central highlands battleground where the costliest battle of the war ended last week. Souh Vietnamese casualties were reported light.

The victorious government battalions were the same units which seized Hill 1416 near Dak To during the bloody campaign to drive the North Vietnamese from strategic heights in the area. In that three-day battle, the South Vietnamese said they killed 256 of the enemy.

At Bu Dop, 80 miles north of Saigon, the enemy ran afoul of a battalion from the U.S. 1st Infantry Division. It had been flown in Wednesday after a mortar attack on the Special Forces camp and a ground assault on a South Vietnamese district headquarters compound at Bo Duc, 10 miles to the north, indicated a major battle might be in the offing.

Quake Toll May Soar In Yugoslavia

8 Killed, 40 Hurt; Town Wrecked In Western Section

BELGRADE (AP) —An earthquake thundering across the Yugoslav-Albanian border wrecked the town of Debar in western Yugoslav Macedonia today, killing at least eight persons and injuring 40.

Belgrade radio said it was feared the wreckage concealed many more dead.

Officials in Debar reported, after telephone communication was re-established, that almost every house in town was destroyed or so badly damaged as to be uninhabitable. Seven thousand of the town's 8,000 residents were reported in the streets or in parks, made more miserable by rain.

There were no immediate damage reports from Communist Albania and none likely for some time.

In Uppsala, Sweden, the seismological institution said the quake registered 6.5 on the Richter scale, half a point stronger than the 1963 earthquake which destroyed Skopje, the captial of Yugoslav Macedonia.

The seismological institute at Skopje said the quake today was centered 65 miles to the west, an area just over the Albanian border. No damage was reported in Skopje, which was rebuilt after the 1963 quake.

Aid to Debar was delayed by transport difficulties. Landslides blocked roads in the area, and special teams had to be sent to open them. There is no railroad to the town, in a deep valley at the foot of a mountain, and bad weather grounded army helicopters in Skopje.

However, army teams from border stations made it to the town and began the search for dead and injured and the transfer of survivors to the lakeside resort of Ohrid.

Debar was reported without food, electricity or water, and trucks set out with supplies.

The region where the quake was strongest has about 16,000 residents, mostly farm workers. A radio request for 10,000 tents was received in Belgrade.

Macedonia has Greek Macedonia on its south and Albania on its west. The quake was felt strongly on the Greek island of Corfu and in northwestern Greece around Igoumennitsa, the Athens seismological institute reported, but there was no immediate word of casualties there.

Rig Rolls In For 'Curb Service'

This big tractor - trailer skidded off Route 7 in Wellsville about 9 a.m. at the intersection with Route 45 and smashed into a Tastee Freeze stand.

Harry Hinton, 28, of Paterson, N. J., the driver, was uninjured, Wellsville police said.

Officers said Hinton was headed southwest into Wellsville when the empty rig began to slide toward the opposite lane. Hinton, in an effort to avoid a collision with oncoming traffic, braked the tractor and it jackknifed, skidding off the highway and striking the frame structure.

John McGarey is operator of the business in the building which is owned by Delmar T. O'Hara.

The rear fender of a car operated by Russell Dray, 48, of 201 Charles St., East Liverpool, was damaged when hooked by an ashing device extension on the Wellsville city truck.

Officers said the mishap occurred on Spring Hill Rd. as the truck, driven by Vic Pucci, 49, of 322 10th St., was ascending the hill, ashing, and Dray passed.

GOP Fails On $104 Million Package

Pennsylvania Universities 'Pressured' In Tax Defeat

HARRISBURG (AP) — House Speaker Kenneth B. Lee says the state's leading universities must make their influence felt if the half-year fiscal crisis is to be resolved soon.

"For the first time, the educational institutions realize the problem is a serious one," the Sullivan County Republican said today.

"Now it's up to them to develop sufficient grass roots support to convince some reluctant legislators that they must face up to their responsibilities."

Ostensibly, the state-related and state-aided universities are the ones with the most at stake, since it is their $147 million in appropriations that is being delayed for lack of tax funds.

Republicans failed Wednesday to muster enough support in the House to pass a $104 million tax package, which had been tentatively agreed to by Gov. Shafer and the four legislative floor leaders.

A test vote on an 8.5 million proposal to eliminate the 50-cent sales tax exemption on restaurant meals fell, 86-111, when 23 of 102 Republicans were opposed.

Lee and other GOP leaders were convinced such heavy opposition within their own party could not be wiped out over night. There reportedly is a bloc of 18 House Republicans who are opposed to all taxes.

Nine of the 99 minority Democrats supported the measure. The Democrats told the GOP they would provide between 11 and 15 votes, depending upon the tax in question, for passage of the consensus package.

"We're not about to go back to our caucus for more votes," commented Democratic Minority Whip K. Leroy Irvis. "Look at all the Republicans who are off the reservation. It's up to them to get them back."

Republicans decided to run the restaurant measure, considered the most palatable tax in the bundle, to demonstrate the difficulty they had in procuring the 90 votes the Democrats had demanded. They had been forewarned that additional Democratic assistance was not forthcoming.

As things stand, the most the select universities — including the three state-related, Pennsylvania Sate, Temple and Pittsburgh—can hope for is roughly WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy announced today he will challenge President Johnson on the Vietnam issue in four Democratic presidential primaries and possibly two others.

He said he will enter primaries in Wisconsin, Oregon, California and Nebraska.

He will decide within two weeks on Massachusetts and New Hampshire, McCarthy said.

He said his determination to challenge Johnson "has been strengthened by recent announcements from the administration of plans for continued escalation and intensification of the war in Vietnam."

On the other hand, he continued, there has been an "absence of any positive indications or suggestions for a compromise or negotiated political settlement."

He expressed concern that "the administration seems to have set no limits on the price it will pay for military victory."

McCarthy said he did not see his opposition to Johnson as a threat to the unity and strength of the party.

LISBON — Columbiana County has a need for more vocational training on the high school level, board of education members and school administrators agreed here Wednesday night.

More than 30 assembled at McKinley School here for a countywide discussion on a proposed joint vocational center. Each of the 11 boards, local, village and city, and the County Board of Education, was represented by a board member and the district superintendent or an administrator.

The group decided to look further into the joint high school question and scheduled a steering committee session for Dec. 19 at 8 p.m. at the County Board of Education office on the square. Each of the boards at its next meeting will appoint one person — board member or school administrator — to the steering committee.

The guest speakers were Charles Turman of Hartville, assistant state supervisor for trade and vocational training in northeast Ohio, and D. R. Purkey, state supervisor of construction and technical programs.

They showed films and discussed vocational training centers, methods of proceeding, financing and the chances of obtaining matching funds from the state. Joe W. Driscoll, superintendent of Lisbon schools, presided.

way Department superintendent, dispatched 14 trucks at 7 a.m. to ash the 158 miles of highway in the county system.

Lisbon police called out the street crew at 7:45 when trucks and cars spun to a standstill on the N. Market St. (Route 45) hill.

Courthouse workers arriving from various parts of the county reported driving hazardous.

The Highway Patrol called for the Lisbon fire department ambulance to take an injured woman to Salem, but the emergency vehicle is in the garage for repairs and the patrol had to call an ambulance from Salem. The mishap involved the one on Route 30 near the patrol barracks.

Wrecker crews were removing the trailer of a rig which overturned on Route 30 west of Lisbon, blocking both lanes for two hours.

The tractor of the rig went over an embankment, officers said.

A number of rigs were stalled on the Route 7 hill at Rogers earlier this morning, but highway crews ashed the hill and traffic was moving later today.

The snowfall changed from fine to large flakes at Lisbon just before 10:30. The temperature was 31.

COUNTY snow control crews have 3.5 more miles of road to cover this winter. John Ursu, county engineer, says the Ohio Highway Department on Monday turned over to the county system old Route 30 from the Y. & O. junction to the Route 7 junction and old Route 267 from Apples Corners to new Route 267.

Ursu said old Route 30 will be designated the East Liverpool Rd. (County Rd. 425) and old 267 will be known as old Lincoln Highway (County Rd. 451).

THE STREET department here had four crews at work spreading ashes and salt. The job started shortly after 7 when the snow first began to accumulate.

By mid-morning, major downtown streets were turned into ribbons of slush and water as the salt took effect. But in other areas, it was slow going for motorists and pedestrians alike.

Traffic was tied up briefly about 7:30 a. m. on the Lisbon St. Hill, which became covered with a thin layer of compacted snow that was as treacherous as ice. Several school buses were included in the tie-up.

At mid-morning, police had at least three minor traffic accidents under investigation. All were of the fender-bender variety and no one was reported injured.

Traffic was tied up about 10 a. m. in the westbound lanes of W. 8th St. when a tractor-trailer jackknifed while ascending the grade near Westgate School, police reported. The rig was undamaged. Officers unsnarled the tie-up.

—:—

HIGHWAYS in Beaver County were reported "treacherous" by officers at the Chippewa Barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police.

Officers said motorists are warned not to travel unless it is absolutely necessary. The highways are open, but road crews are hard pressed in keeping up with the ashing and salting.

Traffic tieups were reported on some hills, as large trucks were having difficulty negotiating the slippery highways. No major mishaps were reported.

THE HANCOCK County sheriff's office reported slippery road conditions throughout the county and Waterford Park called off racing for today due to the hazardous conditions.

The sheriff's office reported traffic tied up on Route 66 and one accident was reported this morning involving a car driven by Walter Batalo of Weirton, who is the supervisor of the West Virginia Road Commission garage at Pughtown. The two-car accident occurred at the intersection of Swearingen Hill and Route 2 and involved another car driven by Edward Piatt of New Cumberland RD. The accident report was not complete, the sheriff's office said.

originally planned for the elected officials and Council clerk in action earlier this month.

Under the new proposal, the mayor would receive $4,500 instead of $4,740 as scheduled in plans aired Tuesday night. The auditor's salary would be $3,800 instead of $3,900, the treasurer $900 instead of $960, the solicitor $1,600 instead of $1,875, and Council clerk $900 instead of $975. Councilmen would get $480 as planned.

The present salaries are: Mayor $3,960; auditor $3,180; treasurer $720; solicitor $1,500; Council members $240, and clerk $780.

All four Councilmen agreed to amend the ordinance to provide that it would become effective 30 days after approval of two-thirds of the members or with five votes.

vocational education survey showed a probable joint vocational school enrollment of 920. A 1967 revision of that survey indicates such a school would have 1,138 students at present. The 1967 revision recommendations were based on a single joint vocational district to serve the county area.

The group discussed the possibility of maintaining or expanding present vocational facilities at East Liverpool and Salem and of establishing a central vocational high school.

Present from East Liverpool were Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, president of the Board of Education; Harry McConville, board member, and Clifford Lynch, high school principal.

nation went forward to the bank. Its 20 executive directors voted unanimously Wednesday night to offer the $40,000-a-year job to McNamara, after the French representative reportedly delayed to check with Paris. A delegation headed by Woods called on McNamara at the Pentagon.

The White House statement, issued under Johnson's name, called McNamara a "great administrator of the defense establishment . . . wise, resourceful, prudent" and said, "I shall miss him greatly."

McNamara's statement described the defense chief as "profoundly grateful to the President for his support and friendship."

two-thirds of the $147 million they were to get in Shafer's 1.79 billion budget.

Shafer and the legislative leadership, in an attempt to resolve the fiscal stalemate, agreed to trim the university funds temporarily until it could be more accurately determined if additional taxes were necessary to finance all their appropriations.

He said he was not advocating peace at any price but wanted "an honorable, rational and political solution to this war."

The Heathen Chinee Is Peculiar

The United Nations General Assembly has saved the day again for international virtue by barring the door to mainland Chinese.

The vote was 45 to unbar the door, only 8 to keep it barred, with 17 doorkeepers refusing to vote either way. It takes two-thirds of the 70 U.N. members to unbar the door, so this meant the Chinese People's Republic would stay outside.

This is deeply reassuring to the United States, which has measured the heathen Chinee of the Asiatic mainland with a moral yardstick it applies to no other nationality group — and has found them totally lacking in stature.

Just why the mainland Chinese should be peculiar puzzles other U.N. members and many U.S. citizens as well.

The explanation, however, is simple.

The United States is the only country that uses a moral yardstick in international relations. Others use a rule of expediency. They carry on diplomatic relations on a basis of convenience, not moral judgment. All viable governments are placed on an equal footing. Membership in the international club is open to anyone who has made the international scene.

But the United States has standards. It wants no Chinese People's Republic in the club, though it gets along quite well with the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, which never misses a chance to swing a sickle at the American throat.

It wants no common footing with the most populous nation on earth but is willing to give a full vote in the United Nations to nations called Botswana, Chad and Gabon.

It contends the heathen Chinee on the mainland isn't ready for civilized company, yet it stays on good terms with the Republic of Congo, whose statesmen still think of their opponents as potential foiled dinners.

It refuses to recognize the Republic of China, which is tainted with Maoistic communism, yet gets along with the Republic of China, which is not in China but on an offshore island and is tainted with ideological schizophrenia.

Anyway, it is good to know international virtue is safe for another nonce. It is not necessary to understand why — only that the U.N. door is still barred to the heathen Chinee.

Holiday Reminder

December means snow, Christmas, shopping, parties — and the annual reminder of how important is the need to continue the fight against tuberculosis.

Use of Christmas seals helps provide funds for the detection of TB through mobile X-ray units, such as that in Columbiana County, and for research toward finding a means of eliminating the disease permanently.

Christmas seals can help you, your family, your friends. Place them on your greeting cards when you prepare them for mailing this year.

New Vietnam Policy Emerging

The impending departure of Secretary of Defense Robert S. MacNamara raises a bundle of questions.

Several sound reasons can be offered for his resignation from the defense post and acceptance of the World Bank presidency. He has been defense secretary longer than any other man. He needs a respite. His wife is ill. He wants the World Bank job. He is out of step with the administration's war policy at a time when unity is needed.

More significant than the fact he is leaving is the timing.

If a football coach is winning a big game, he doesn't bench his quarterback. It is only when he is losing that his mind turns to substitutes.

Recent optimistic statements to the contrary, the United States isn't winning the Vietnam War in the accepted military sense of victory.

President Johnson has tried negotiation, limited war and gradual escalation, to no avail.

His firm opposition to withdrawal leaves only one course open: A military step-up to whatever degree necessary to force North Vietnam to surrender.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff have been pressuring the President for a go-ahead. Added to their demands is the advice of Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, who advocate stronger tactics. The nation's two living five-star generals gave their opinions in a special CBS television interview.

Former President Eisenhower suggested pursuit of enemy planes and ground troops wherever their bases might be and an "end-run" type of invasion into and above the DMZ. Gen. Bradley concurred.

Under different circumstances, President Johnson might be satisfied to continue the gradual escalation program and give it more time to produce desired results. With an election around the corner he does not have the luxury of unlimited time. He has to do something.

All signs point to a heating up of ground and air activity.

Secretary McNamara's leaving could go down as one of the most important steps in the Vietnam struggle; it may well herald a new, tougher policy.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Although the cool of the evening began to feel as if one were standing near the region known as Ultima Thule, this parade was stupendous!

One can't help but marvel at the sight of hundreds of wonderful, talented young people with radiant, smiling faces; strong, action packed, energetic bodies; imaginative, constructive, resourceful, learning minds; willing, loving hearts topped with enthusiasm—they are great!!

Has there ever been anything as precious as they?

A person is forced to consider how wonderfully and beautifully they are made; extraordinary beyond comprehension, actually supernatural even in divine dimension.

That's what makes a person with a living conscience shed tears, intermingling those of joy and sorrow. What is their hope? What is their sustaining power? What is their guiding force and worthwhile goal? As time goes on what is going to keep them ticking good and strong when the talking around them is so extremely bad? What will their end be?

Will they fall prey to the seduction of raging evil, for to deny its strength is folly. To step aside and hope it passes by is just as unreasonable. To accept it along with the majority saying they must be correct is definitely wrong. To say it is the modern thing is age-old, yet freshly deceiving. To try to get far enough away to escape it is impossible, and to partake of it is sin.

There is only one way to defeat this present evil, that is to overcome it, and there is an infallible way to overcome the insecurity of its nearness, and to unloose its tenants of possession.

The hundreds of thousands who have had the victory over the seduction and resulting devastation of evil took example of the man who left us these words in the Best Book. The entire Word of God so little heeded, no wonder its application is so sorely needed.

Galatians: Chapter 2; verse 20:—

"I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me".

Life is a parade with hundreds of units; some of action, some of interest, every one will be manyfold better if we take the overcomers way, the best way. Let's take it and make our parade a great success.

P.S.

The total parade was exceptional. I enjoyed it, appreciated it, and "A Thank You" to all participants.

Delicate Operation

That's Real Living!

By Art Buchwald

TOKYO — American women could learn a lot from Japanese wives. Despite subversive attempts to liberate her, the Japanese wife is still a slave to her husband, who is her "only master on earth."

Art Buchwald

This has not only made for happiness in the Japanese household, but it also has kept the divorce rate down to 10 per cent, as opposed to in the United States where 25 per cent of all couples seem to find reasons to split up.

What are the major differences between the American and Japanese woman? For one thing, the Japanese woman is much more concerned about the welfare of her husband. On cold mornings, for example, I was told a good Japanese wife will prostrate herself on her husband's side of the bed, so he won't have to step down on a cold floor.

It's small gestures like this that make for a solid marriage and a happy home.

ANOTHER AREA in which Japanese women excel is giving their husbands baths. There is an old Japanese proverb that a "family who washes together sloshes together." And anyone who has been bathed by a Japanese woman will never want to take an American shower again.

Unlike the American woman, a Japanese wife looks forward to giving her husband a bath. She stays home all day cooking the hot water so it will be just right when her husband arrives from a hard day at the office.

First the wife will bow to him, and then help him off with his clothes. Then she'll start scrubbing him down with soap, making sure not to get any in his eyes. Finally, she'll rinse him off. Only then will she allow him into the bathtub where he will soak up to his chin, while she serves him a cold beer or a hot glass of sake.

After the bath the wife will then massage her husband's back, and even walk on him if he's really tired. Then she'll dry him off and dress him for dinner. By this time the husband is in a good humor and willing to listen to what the kids did in school.

CONTRAST THIS to the average American home where the American wife not only refuses to bow to her husband when he comes home, but in some cases won't even give him a bath. And when she does give him a bath, it's slam bam, thank you ma'am, and about as romantic as a TV dinner.

Most American wives will run the water, hit their husbands a couple of times with a washcloth and then hand him a towel and say, "Dry yourself."

No wonder American husbands are irritable and hard to get along with at the end of the day. You would be, too, if your wife refused to walk on your back.

American women are afraid that if they offer to bathe their husbands, they will be considered inferior. This is ridiculous. A wife who knows how to bathe her husband in the Japanese style is a superior person, and one whom any husband would be proud of stepping on when he gets out of bed in the morning.

VICTOR RIESEL

Teamsters Battle Kennedy

WASHINGTON — The Teamsters now speak more softly and kindly of the junior senator from New York. They no longer call him "Bobby." These days they limit themselves to such descriptions of him as one of the "greatest detriments to this country since Adolf Hitler."

Victor Riesel

Or they charge him with having "socialistic ideas." Or warn that Robert Kennedy will "tell you what church to go to."

The words are those of Carlos Moore, the mild-mannered new Teamsters Brotherhood national legislative director. But the sentiments are those of the Teamsters national leadership which is preparing to war on the former U.S. Attorney General to prevent him from developing national influence which might lead him to the Democratic presidential nomination.

Mr. Moore, the Teamsters national political director, is a temperate man who succeeded the late, explosive Sidney Zagri (killed in a restaurant fire). For years Zagri used to delight Jim Hoffa by romping into the general president's office with such delicate phrases as, "I can buy those congressmen for peanuts." This led to the general impression that Zagri dispensed the union's cash, or someone's cash, with a largess characteristic of great philanthropic foundations.

THERE IS NO DOUBT that Zagri had great influence "on the Hill" and in the entertainment world. But now he is gone and the Teamsters acting general president, General Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons, is more the quiet man than his imprisoned predecessor.

"Fitz" is not bankrolling the Teamsters' political operations and its national organization DRIVE (Democrat - Republican - Independent - Voter - Education) as freely as did the bombastic Hoffa. It is reported that he has told Moore to start building DRIVE from the ground up — and Moore, as new DRIVE director, has been hitting the hustings at meetings arranged by local Teamsters officials.

During this barnstorming, Moore has unleashed his attacks on Bob Kennedy amid Teamsters cheers. What the Teamsters national headquarters can do with DRIVE is still to be proven. What is definite is that its leaders plan to hit the anti-Kennedy motif for the duration.

Actually, though almost unknown, DRIVE could develop into an effective political influence. Today it operates in some 25 states, mostly in the smaller communities where it does not have to compete with the effective big city machines of the Democrats, Republicans, the AFL-CIO's COPE, or the Liberal party such as in New York State.

And it will be heavily financed. The truck owners agreed when they signed the national master freight agreement early this year to deduct $5 annually from the payrolls of some 450,000 drivers if the Teamsters national headquarters requested it — with the money earmarked for DRIVE. Thus it would have a national fund of over $2 million. The political checkoff is being arranged for the rest of the big union's driver membership. This could mean some $5 million annually. And almost $9 million a year if the clause is extended to all divisions such as the warehouse section.

FURTHERMORE, "Fitz" has given the Teamsters, even in his short reign, a new respectability. For example, as recently as Nov. 8, he was an honored guest sitting on the dais along with AFL-CIO president George Meany at the Four Freedoms dinner in the New York Hilton Hotel. The banquet was a testimonial to Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, who helped oust the Brotherhood from the Federation back in '57. If today "Fitz" were not acceptable to Mr. Meany, the Teamsters chief would not have been on that dais.

But let no one exercise himself by jumping to conclusions. The Teamsters are not pledged to any candidate including President Lyndon Johnson. In fact, in the past they have shown considerable affection for Sen. Eugene McCarthy. He keynoted the second day of their razzle-dazzle Miami Beach convention on July 5, 1966. Some 2,000 delegates cheered the senator as he attacked the Justice Dept., the Congress and the communications media.

The Teamsters now want their place in the political sun — which has been denied them for more than a decade. And they are driving for it. If they're successful, their hatred for Bob Kennedy, their neutrality towards President Johnson and their affection for Sen. McCarthy could make national political news.

DAVID LAWRENCE

DeGaulle's Role

Twice in this century, the United States has saved France from enslavement by a foreign power.

Many American lives and hundreds of millions of dollars were sacrificed in the task. But Gen. de Gaulle, president of France, is turning more and more against this country. He not only has sought to break up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—thus weakening the western alliance against the Soviet Union—but now he has begun openly to reveal hostility on the financial and economic front, too, in an effort to damage the dollar in world trade. What is the reason for these flagrant acts of ingratitude?

Even more important is this question: Why do the poeple of France stand by and allow their elected leader to travel the road to disaster? Alienation from the United States is bound to have a tragic result.

AS THE WORLD witnesses the attack on the dollar by De Gaulle, news dispatches tell of a demonstration in Paris by 60,000 Communists and their supporters who paraded with large placards last Sunday, assailing the U.S. government and President Johnson, while chanting "U.S. Assassin."

These are strange manifestations in a country which has for so many years been in alliance with the United States.

Certainly there has been no evidence that the American people in recent times have lessened in any way their regard for the French.

Inside France there has come in recent years an invasion of foreign capital—some British, but mostly American. Many millions of dollars have been invested in French companies by corporations.

This has aided the economy of France, though it also has stirred some animosity. Gen. de Gaulle in his news conference last Monday charged that the massive outflow of dollars from this country to France has enabled the United States to get control of a number of French enerprises. He said:

"We are facing an American takeover of certain of our industrial plants. But we know that this is chiefly due not to the superiority of the United States, but to the inflation which it is exporting to other nations under cover of the gold exchange system. . . .

"It is in the interest of all, including the United States, that this be terminated."

The United States has been trying to curtail the flow of dollars abroad because of its imbalance of payments.

Investments overseas, to be sure, have brought back many millions of dollars in tax revenue paid by American companies to the U.S. Treasury. But not enough trade has been developed to offset the billions spent outside the United States because of military expenses and foreign aid.

Gen. de Gaulle, unfortunately, lacks the imagination to see that foreign capital can do even more in the future to transform France from an agricultural to an industrial country.

Whether it be in business relations or international policy, the larger nations of the world have not been able to live in economic or political isolation.

France under De Gaulle, can disrupt its economic progess if the current course of hostility to the United States is continued.

American tourists may begin to boycott France and its products. Also, there may be an inclination now for the United States to take another look at West Germany to see if a better defensive system can be built up with the aid and cooperation of the Bonn government.

Already members of Congrsss are asking why the United States shouldn't demand immediate payment from France on its World War I debt to the United States, which, with interest, amounts to $6 billion.

Rep. Lester Wolff, D-N.Y., has urged that if De Gaulle doesn't pay this the United States should freeze French assets in this country. Such proposals are extreme, but they emphasize that the French president has opened the way in U.S. relations with France toward what has often been called in diplomacy "an agonizing reappraisal."

The Heathen Chinee Is Peculiar

The United Nations General Assembly has saved the day again for international virtue by barring the door to mainland Chinese.

The vote was 45 to unbar the door, only 8 to keep it barred, with 17 doorkeepers refusing to vote either way. It takes two-thirds of the 70 U.N. members to unbar the door, so this meant the Chinese People's Republic would stay outside.

This is deeply reassuring to the United States, which has measured the heathen Chinee of the Asiatic mainland with a moral yardstick it applies to no other nationality group — and has found them totally lacking in stature.

Just why the mainland Chinese should be peculiar puzzles other U.N. members and many U.S. citizens as well.

The explanation, however, is simple.

The United States is the only country that uses a moral yardstick in international relations. Others use a rule of expediency. They carry on diplomatic relations on a basis of convenience, not moral judgment. All viable governments are placed on an equal footing. Membership in the international club is open to anyone who has made the international scene.

But the United States has standards. It wants no Chinese People's Republic in the club, though it gets along quite well with the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, which never misses a chance to swing a sickle at the American throat.

It wants no common footing with the most populous nation on earth but is willing to give a full vote in the United Nations to nations called Botswana, Chad and Gabon.

It contends the heathen Chinee on the mainland isn't ready for civilized company, yet it stays on good terms with the Republic of Congo, whose statesmen still think of their opponents as potential foiled dinners.

It refuses to recognize the Republic of China, which is tainted with Maoistic communism, yet gets along with the Republic of China, which is not in China but on an offshore island and is tainted with ideological schizophrenia.

Anyway, it is good to know international virtue is safe for another nonce. It is not necessary to understand why — only that the U.N. door is still barred to the heathen Chinee.

Investments overseas, to be sure, have brought back many millions of dollars in tax revenue paid by American companies to the U.S. Treasury. But not enough trade has been developed to offset the billions spent outside the United States because of military expenses and foreign aid.

Gen. de Gaulle, unfortunately, lacks the imagination to see that foreign capital can do even more in the future to transform France from an agricultural to an industrial country.

Whether it be in business relations or international policy, the larger nations of the world have not been able to live in economic or political isolation.

France under De Gaulle, can disrupt its economic progess if the current course of hostility to the United States is continued.

American tourists may begin to boycott France and its products. Also, there may be an inclination now for the United States to take another look at West Germany to see if a better defensive system can be built up with the aid and cooperation of the Bonn government.

Already members of Congrsss are asking why the United States shouldn't demand immediate payment from France on its World War I debt to the United States, which, with interest, amounts to $6 billion.

Rep. Lester Wolff, D-N.Y., has urged that if De Gaulle doesn't pay this the United States should freeze French assets in this country. Such proposals are extreme, but they emphasize that the French president has opened the way in U.S. relations with France toward what has often been called in diplomacy "an agonizing reappraisal."

USW Local Votes Against Arbitration

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A 3,800-man United Steelworkers local has turned thumbs down on the proposed use of binding arbitration in contract talks with the steel industry.

Local 2227 at U.S. Steel's Irvin Works voted overwhelmingly against the plan.

"We definitely feel we do not get a fair shake when we go to arbitration," said Harry Osborne, chairman of the local's grievance committee.

President I. W. Abel of the USW and top industry bargainers are considering a no-strike agreement and binding arbitration on unresolved issues after contract talks next year.

The USW's Exective Board meets at Miami Beach next month. The board can approve the arbitration plan. However, labor sources believe the board wouldn't approve the plan without submitting it to union members for a vote.

There are reports the arbitration proposal has caused a split among top leaders of the union. Two of the union's district directors have publicly opposed it. And other locals have turned down the idea.

U.S. Asking U.N. For Protection Of Embassies

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States is expected to call on the United Nations to try to protect foreign diplomats and embassies subjected to violence in Asia, the Middle East and other trouble spots.

U.S. Ambassador Robert S. Benjamin speaks today before the General Assembly's 122-nation legal committee, which is debating diplomatic privileges and immunities.

Benjamin was expected to denounce incidents in Peking in which rampaging Red Guards roughed up diplomats and sacked their embassies with no apparent restraint from the Communist Chinese government.

Informants said Benjamin also would touch on reported indignities against foreign embassy personnel in Middle East capitals during and after the Arab-Israeli war in June.

The question of immunities for U.N. representatives and their staffs was put on the assembly agenda at the request of Secretary-General U Thant.

More Land Owners Aid In Conservation

LISBON — The board of supervisors of the Columbiana Soil and Water Conservation District has approved applications for conservation assistance from four land owners.

New cooperators follow, with addresses, acreage enrolled and locations:

J. Wilson Yaggi of Beloit RD 2, 93 acres, Knox Township; Wayne Vinson of Youngstown, 196 acres, Washington Township; Oliver C. Conser of Salem RD 2, 20 acres, Butler Township, and James R. Loshinsky of New Waterford RD 1, 94 acres, Fairfield Township.

The board reports basic plans were written this month for 78 acres owned by Robert Beverly Jr. in Wayne Township.

50-Year Certificates Presented Grangers

LISBON — Carl Bailey, master of Mt. Nebo Grange, presented golden sheaf certificates Wednesday night to Guy Frantz and Merle McPherson, who have been Grange members for 50 years.

The grange made donations to an appeal for aid and to Boys Village at Smithville and purchased a Public Health League bond.

The Junior Grange opened the literary program by singing two songs. Frantz and Donald Gauding presented a skit and Howard Wilhelm, lecturer, conducted a miscellaneous quiz.

Mrs. Lloyd Bailey served refreshments.

Negotiations Resume In Transit Strike

CINCINNATI (AP)—Opposing sides in the city bus strike will hold another negotiating session here today after a five-day lull in talks.

Officials said Harold Smith, international representative of the drivers' union, is expected to be on hand for the meeting set up in a renewed attempt to end the 30-day strike.

Eugene Ruehlmann, who will officially take office as mayor on Friday, told council Wednesday he is "hopeful for an early settlement."

Both the Cincinnati Transit Co. and the Amalgamated Transit Workers Union claimed Wednesday that failure to submit the issues to arbitration has hampered an agreement to end the walkout.

Votes To Prohibit Practice

House Hits Twice-Daily Collections By Junketers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jet-age travel has added something new to congressional junketing: an opportunity to collect daily living expenses twice a day.

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, showed the House Wednesday how it works and his colleagues responded by voting to prohibit such practices on a forthcoming trip by a House Labor subcommittee.

Law limits congressional travelers to $50-a-day expenses in the currency of the country they are visiting. But the fast-moving congressmen frequently visit more than one country a day.

Gross said five junketers on a worldwide trip last year managed to collect $100 a day on 13 occasions by picking up $50 in each of two countries. He didn't name the travelers.

"If a racetrack offered a daily double like that it would go broke in a hurry," said Gross. He demanded that "this flagrant practice be stopped."

Gross' detailed account of how the junketers operated was frowned upon by Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo., sponsor of the amendment to ban the practice in the future.

"I had intended not to instruct the members in the complete technique," said Hall, whose amendment was adopted by voice vote.

Gross also criticized the proposed trip of 11 members of a postal subcommittee to inspect mechanized post office in Europe and the delivery of military mail in Vietnam.

"You could accomplish more and save a lot of money," he told subcommittee Chairman Arnold Olsen, D-Mont., "for the price of taxicab fare to the Pentagon and the Post Office right here."

Gross said the subcommittee has made two similar trips in recent years "and since then the mail service has deteriorated. I don't think you're going to accomplish anything but have a nice junket."

Gross's attack brought forth ringing defenses of congressional travel by other members.

W. Va. Road Workers Due Pay Hike Friday

CHARLESTON (AP) — All State Road Commission hourly workers will receive a 10 - cent an hour wage increase starting Friday.

State Road Commissioner Burl Sawyers made the announcement Wednesday, saying the pay boost will involve about 3,840 employes whose current salaries range from $1.65 to $2.40 an hour.

The workers due to receive the salary increase had a 10 per cent pay boost last April after some hourly employes in the Northern Panhandle threatened to strike for higher wages.

$140,000 Police Brutality Suit Filed Against 4

CLEVELAND (AP)—Former safety director John N. McCormick, ex-police chief Richard Wagner and two unnamed policemen were named in a $140,000 suit charging police brutality filed in U.S. District Court Wednesday by the Greater Cleveland Civil Liberties Union.

The suit was filed on behalf of Phillip G. Bradshaw, an epileptic who was arrested for alleged drunkenness last June.

Bradshaw claimed the two policemen named in the suit—identified only as wearing badge numbers 469 and 174—refused to get him medical attention. He also charged that the officers beat him unconscious when he had a seizure at Central Police Station and handcuffed him to cell bars.

McCormick and Wagner were named in the suit for their alleged refusal to discipline the two officers. The petition claims they also refused to take any other action to discourage police from "violent conduct" toward the public.

County College To Begin Adult Classes At Midland

The date has been set for the start of Beaver County Community College night classes in Midland.

Supt. Charles P. Henderson announced today the classes will begin Jan. 22 at Lincoln High School. The staff also has been announced.

College officials said a listing is being prepared to show what courses will be offered at Midland and elsewhere.

Registration and orientation will be held the first night of each class.

High school equivalency programs are being offered adults who never completed high school. The classes are designed to prepare them to take a Commonwealth Diploma examination and receive an equivalency certificate.

The college will offer classes in English, math and science in this program. The college also will administer a class in speed-reading.

Various other courses are on the curriculum.

Instructors and the courses they will teach include Mrs. Dorothy Shovlin, typing; George Ordich, shop; Charles Polce, men's physical education; Miss Eugenia O'Hara, women's physical education; Reynold Peduzzi and Victor Martinetti, driver education, and Lawrence Novak, comprehensive art.

A program of educating the public of the night school offerings will begin in January, Supt. Henderson said. The college will prepare information.

Henderson said he and his staff are searching high school files for the names of students who never graduated.

These will be informed by mail of the classes to be offered and the opportunity to obtain a high school equivalency diploma.

Henderson said the Midland Division of Crucible Steel Co. has been contacted and asked to notify their employes of the opportunities available through the program.

The program also is open to those from the South Side and Western Beaver school areas.

rom Bu Dop that U.S. commanders sent the infantrymen n as bait, hoping to entice an enemy attack that would be ulnerable to the superior firepower from U.S. artillery and planes. This was the formula that gave the enemy heavy losses at nearby Loc Ninh earlier this month.

Wheeler said 20 enemy bodies were found on the battlefield after the Communists retreated at daylight, and one wounded man was captured. He said many blood trails also were found, indicating the enemy dragged away a large number of dead or wounded.

Seven Americans were killed and 13 wounded, Wheeler reported.

On Tuesday night the pattern was an enemy ground attack at Bo Duc and of mortar attack on Bu Dop. Wednesday nigh it was reversed. While the Americams were beating off the enemy, Communist mortars hurled more than 200 mortar rounds at government positions near the district headquarters.

The defenders reported only light casualties and said the district headquarters was not touched. Part of the compound had been overrun during the earlier attack, with 15 South Vietnamese and 65 Viet Cong reported killed.

In the air war, monsoon rains restricted nearly all U.S. air strikes over North Vietnam Wednesday to the southern half of the country from south of Hanoi to the 17th parallel.

However, Navy pilots, returned to the Haiphong area for the second day in succession, bombing fuel storage dumps 7 and 11 miles west-northwest of the port city. Smoke and dust prevented an immediate assessment of damage, the Navy said.

The Navy also reported that one of its river patrol boats intercepted a large, motorized sampan 84 miles south-southwest of Saigon Tuesday and after an exchange of fire seized 150 pounds of medicines, 310 rounds of small arms ammunition and other equipment.

The savage fighting around Dak To last week was reflected in the weekly casualty report issued today. U.S. headquarters said 212 Americans and 1,826 of the enemy were killed in action last week, 1,242 Americans were wounded and 66 Americans were missing, compared with casualties the week before of 225 Americans and 1,561 enemy killed, 1,256 Americans wounded and 22 Americans missing.

South Vietnamese casualties for the week were 261 killed, 66 wounded and 25 missing. Like those for the Americans, they were slightly less the week before.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I remove candle grease that has dropped onto my good rug?

A.—Scrape as much of the wax as possible off with a spoon. Then press the spot through a blotter with a warm iron to absorb the remaining grease. Repeat until all the residue has been removed, shifting the blotter from time to time to keep a clean surface over the spot.

Q. — How can I drive nails more easily into hard wood?

A. — By first dipping your nails into a thick grease, such as the kind used to lubricate a washing machine. By taking a minute or two to do this, you'll be eliminating a lot of wasted bent nails and extra hammering.

SANTA and the PIGWIDGEN

By Lucrece Beale

Mr. And Mrs. Claus Loved Children

CHAPTER ONE

Many years ago there lived a man who had an extra-ordinary love for children.

He was always giving them little gifts—especially at Christmastime. He was so good and kind a man he was made the patron saint of children. He is called Saint Nicholas or Santa Claus for short and he is the spirit of all our Christmases.

No one knows how it came about that today Santa Claus lives at the North Pole and has flying reindeer and is able to bring toys to children all over the world. No one knows, but many stories are told, and here is one of the most interesting.

CLAUS, AS he was then called, lived in a village on a mountainside in a far-away land. He and his wife had no little ones of their own, but their house was always filled with boys and girls.

Claus liked it that way. He told stories. He made up songs. He kept the cookie jar filled. He carved tiny wooden toys and gave them to the children. He scarcely had time to do his real work, which was to make shelves and chairs and beds to sell to the villagers.

People could not understand how Claus could spend so much time playing with the children. He never seemed to worry about making a living.

Then one day some boys playing in Claus' attic found a fat black purse. The purse clinked when the boys shook it. They went home and told their parents that Claus had a treasure of gold in his attic.

NOW GOLD had never been seen in that far-away place and everyone was amazed. All the villagers, men, women and children, went to Claus' house and told him what they had heard. They asked if they could see the treasure and merely feel the gold with their fingers.

"I have no gold!" exclaimed Claus.

"But the purse?" urged a villager. "Can't we even see the purse?"

Claus went to the attic and came back with the black leather purse. The sides bulged and the contents truly jingled like gold.

"If it's not gold, what is it?" asked an old man eagerly.

"I do not know," said Claus. "Many years ago a traveler stayed the night in my father's house. He left the purse and said he would return for it some day. He made my father promise never to open it. My father kept his promise. When he died he made me promise the same thing and the purse has been forgotten all these years."

"Open it" cried the villagers. "Surely such a promise was not meant to stand forever!"

"For me it was," said Claus stubbornly.

—:—

THE VILLAGE elder spoke up slyly and said, "But Claus, we didn't make any such promise. Surely I can open the purse just for one little peek."

"Yes, why not?" cried everyone, moving closer. "Yes, yes" chorused the children. "Just a peek" And suddenly the elder learned over the purse and opened the clasp.

There was a hiss and a screech. The lamps sputtered. A strange warm breeze blew through the house. The villagers stumbled back against the walls and Claus cried out, "Mercy me! What have you done?"

Tomorrow: The Curse

Ex-City Man Faces Grand Jury Probe

LISBON — Charles H. White, 38, formerly of 327 Broadway, East Liverpool, was bound over to the Columbiana County Grand Jury Wednesday on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Judge J. L. MacDonald of Southwest Court heard Sheriff's Deputy Herman (Cy) Wellman, the arresting officer, testify yesterday, and found probable cause to send the case to a higher court. He continued bond at $1,000.

White, a pipeline worker who was living in Minerva when arrested over three weeks ago, asked for the preliminary hearing when he pleaded not guilty Nov. 14. H has been in jail since Nov. 6.

Questioned by James D. Primm Jr., assistant prosecuting attorney, Wellman said he found a loaded .32-caliber pistol and 19 live bullets in White's right jacket pocket when he frisked him about 2 a.m. Nov. 6 at the Sandy - Beaver Restaurant parking lot in Hanoverton.

Wellman said he had been called to the Spring Valley Diner near East Rochester shortly before to investigate an attempted burglary. He said the caller had seen a car parked there and got the license number. Wellmn checked out the registration and found the car was owned by a Minerva man. Minerva police got in touch with Wellman moments later by radio and told him the owner said the car had been stolen.

Wellman said he drove around looking for the 1965 red and black hardtop and found it in the restaurant lot at Hanoverton. He parked across the street and waited. The driver came out in about five minutes, got in the car and "leaned over toward the glove compartment or passenger's side," Wellman related. He said the man, when asked to get out of the car, stuck both hands in his jacket pockets. Wellman said he considered the movement suspicious, knowing the car was stolen, so he searched him and found the gun.

The defendant did not testify and was returned to the County Jail.

Other Decisions Made

Ohio Supreme Court Sets Slayer's Execution Date

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court announced Wednesday decisions on cases involving doctors in Marion, a church in Dayton and disputed pay raises for Youngstown Health Department employes.

The state's highest court also set the execution date for a convicted slayer from Columbus.

The Ohio court had stayed a July 28 execution to permit an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. The new execution date was set after the Ohio Supreme Court was notified Banks' appeal had been rejected.

An appellate court decision ruling invalid a forfeiture provision in a Marion medical clinic partnership agreement was overturned 6-1 by the Ohio Supreme Court.

Dr. Henry C. Blout Jr had entered a declaratory judgment suit against the Federick C. Smith Clinic, claiming $40,000 for accounts receivable, plus his $1,500 initial investment.

The clinic offered Blout $1,062 in settlement.

The trial court, Franklin County Common Pleas, ruled in favor of the clinic but the appeals court modified, holding that the forfeiture provision was invalid.

In the Dayton case, the Evangelical United Brethren Church sought tax exemption on charitable grounds for a building used by its board of publication.

The building, records show, was rented to the church historian for $500 monthly and income from publication of church literature was listed at $100,000 a year. The money was used for pensions of retired ministers and their families.

Montgomery County Auditor A. L. Oswald denied tax exemption requests and his decision was upheld by an appellate court. The Supreme Court refused to review the appellate court decision.

The high court, in another decision, let stand an appellate court decision holding that the Youngstown Board of Health lacks authority to increase wages of employes by its own action.

Youngstown City Council rejected a board resolution of May 18, 1965, increasing wages of several health board employes $400-900 a year.

Urges River Cleanup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A major effort to clean up pollution in the Scioto River was called for Wednesday by S. L. Frost, executive secretary of the Ohio Water Commission.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Ohioans for Kennedy in 1968," an organization to promote Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., as a candidate for president, was formed here Wednesday.

Arab Terrorists Fire Nine Shells In Tel Aviv Area

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab terrorists fired nine mortar shells and wounded a child late Wednesday night in Petah Tiqva, a residential suburb only 6 miles from the heart of Tel Aviv.

The attack was the closest to Israel's largest city reported since the June war. Security forces went after the raiders and set up roadblocks.

It was the second mortar shelling of the Tel Aviv area this month. Half a dozen shells burst Nov. 9 on the outskirts of Kfar Sava, seven miles to the north.

Both raids were blamed on El Fatah, the Syrian-backed terrorist organization.

At U.N. headquarters, meanwhile, sources in a position to know said they expect the new U.N. special representative to the Middle East, Gunnar Jarring, to delay his peace mission until after the Arab summit conference scheduled to start Dec. 9 in Rabat, Morocco.

They said U.N. officials advised a delay because the meeting is supposed to establish a joint Arab position toward Jarring's mission seeking settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Strike Deadline Set At Chrysler Plant

TWINSBURG, Ohio (AP)—A strike deadline has been set for 8 a.m. Monday for 4,300 United Auto Workers at Chrysler Corp's stamping plant here.

The UAW International Executive Board Wednesday authorized the strike unless nearly 70 local plant issues are settled. Negotiations are scheduled daily up to the deadlines.

SANTA and the PIGWIDGEN

By Lucrece Beale

Mr. And Mrs. Claus Loved Children

CHAPTER ONE

Many years ago there lived a man who had an extra-ordinary love for children.

He was always giving them little gifts—especially at Christmastime. He was so good and kind a man he was made the patron saint of children. He is called Saint Nicholas or Santa Claus for short and he is the spirit of all our Christmases.

No one knows how it came about that today Santa Claus lives at the North Pole and has flying reindeer and is able to bring toys to children all over the world. No one knows, but many stories are told, and here is one of the most interesting.

CLAUS, AS he was then called, lived in a village on a mountainside in a far-away land. He and his wife had no little ones of their own, but their house was always filled with boys and girls.

Claus liked it that way. He told stories. He made up songs. He kept the cookie jar filled. He carved tiny wooden toys and gave them to the children. He scarcely had time to do his real work, which was to make shelves and chairs and beds to sell to the villagers.

People could not understand how Claus could spend so much time playing with the children. He never seemed to worry about making a living.

Then one day some boys playing in Claus' attic found a fat black purse. The purse clinked when the boys shook it. They went home and told their parents that Claus had a treasure of gold in his attic.

NOW GOLD had never been seen in that far-away place and everyone was amazed. All the villagers, men, women and children, went to Claus' house and told him what they had heard. They asked if they could see the treasure and merely feel the gold with their fingers.

"I have no gold!" exclaimed Claus.

"But the purse?" urged a villager. "Can't we even see the purse?"

Claus went to the attic and came back with the black leather purse. The sides bulged and the contents truly jingled like gold.

"If it's not gold, what is it?" asked an old man eagerly.

"I do not know," said Claus. "Many years ago a traveler stayed the night in my father's house. He left the purse and said he would return for it some day. He made my father promise never to open it. My father kept his promise. When he died he made me promise the same thing and the purse has been forgotten all these years."

"Open it " cried the villagers. "Surely such a promise was not meant to stand forever!"

"For me it was," said Claus stubbornly.

—:—

THE VILLAGE elder spoke up slyly and said, "But Claus, we didn't make any such promise. Surely I can open the purse just for one little peek."

"Yes, why not?" cried everyone, moving closer. "Yes, yes " chorused the children. "Just a peek " And suddenly the elder learned over the purse and opened the clasp.

There was a hiss and a screech. The lamps sputtered. A strange warm breeze blew through the house. The villagers stumbled back against the walls and Claus cried out, "Mercy me! What have you done?"

Tomorrow: The Curse

Ex-City Man Faces Grand Jury Probe

LISBON — Charles H. White, 38, formerly of 327 Broadway, East Liverpool, was bound over to the Columbiana County Grand Jury Wednesday on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Judge J. L. MacDonald of Southwest Court heard Sheriff's Deputy Herman (Cy) Wellman, the arresting officer, testify yesterday, and found probable cause to send the case to a higher court. He continued bond at $1,000.

White, a pipeline worker who was living in Minerva when arrested over three weeks ago, asked for the preliminary hearing when he pleaded not guilty Nov. 14. H has been in jail since Nov. 6.

Questioned by James D. Primm Jr., assistant prosecuting attorney, Wellman said he found a loaded .32-caliber pistol and 19 live bullets in White's right jacket pocket when he frisked him about 2 a.m. Nov. 6 at the Sandy - Beaver Restaurant parking lot in Hanoverton.

Wellman said he had been called to the Spring Valley Diner near East Rochester shortly before to investigate an attempted burglary. He said the caller had seen a car parked there and got the license number. Wellmn checked out the registration and found the car was owned by a Minerva man. Minerva police got in touch with Wellman moments later by radio and told him the owner said the car had been stolen.

Wellman said he drove around looking for the 1965 red and black hardtop and found it in the restaurant lot at Hanoverton. He parked across the street and waited. The driver came out in about five minutes, got in the car and "leaned over toward the glove compartment or passenger's side," Wellman related. He said the man, when asked to get out of the car, stuck both hands in his jacket pockets. Wellman said he considered the movement suspicious, knowing the car was stolen, so he searched him and found the gun.

The defendant did not testify and was returned to the County Jail.

Other Decisions Made

Ohio Supreme Court Sets Slayer's Execution Date

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court announced Wednesday decisions on cases involving doctors in Marion, a church in Dayton and disputed pay raises for Youngstown Health Department employes.

The state's highest court also set the execution date for a convicted slayer from Columbus.

The Ohio court had stayed a July 28 execution to permit an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. The new execution date was set after the Ohio Supreme Court was notified Banks' appeal had been rejected.

An appellate court decision ruling invalid a forfeiture provision in a Marion medical clinic partnership agreement was overturned 6-1 by the Ohio Supreme Court.

Dr. Henry C. Blout Jr had entered a declaratory judgment suit against the Federick C. Smith Clinic, claiming $40,000 for accounts receivable, plus his $1,500 initial investment.

The clinic offered Blout $1,062 in settlement.

The trial court, Franklin County Common Pleas, ruled in favor of the clinic but the appeals court modified, holding that the forfeiture provision was invalid.

In the Dayton case, the Evangelical United Brethren Church sought tax exemption on charitable grounds for a building used by its board of publication.

The building, records show, was rented to the church historian for $500 monthly and income from publication of church literature was listed at $100,000 a year. The money was used for pensions of retired ministers and their families.

Montgomery County Auditor A. L. Oswald denied tax exemption requests and his decision was upheld by an appellate court. The Supreme Court refused to review the appellate court decision.

The high court, in another decision, let stand an appellate court decision holding that the Youngstown Board of Health lacks authority to increase wages of employes by its own action.

Youngstown City Council rejected a board resolution of May 18, 1965, increasing wages of several health board employes $400-900 a year.

Urges River Cleanup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A major effort to clean up pollution in the Scioto River was called for Wednesday by S. L. Frost, executive secretary of the Ohio Water Commission.

To Promote Kennedy

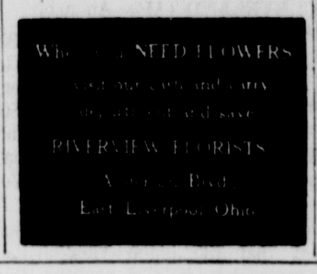

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Ohioans for Kennedy in 1968," an organization to promote Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., as a candidate for president, was formed here Wednesday.

Civic Leader Dies

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — John B. Turner, an Englishman whose civic work in the Miami area earned him an award designating him as Dade County's "Man of the Century," died Tuesday at 67. Turner was named Dade County "Man of the Century" in May for his years of organizing and fund drive work for the Community Chest, United Fund and other organizations.

Irish Poet Dies

DUBLIN (AP) — Patrick Kavanagh, one of Ireland's leading poets who made a lecture tour of the United States in 1955, died today at the age of 62. Kavanagh lecured occasionally at University College in Dublin.

Arab Terrorists Fire Nine Shells In Tel Aviv Area

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab terrorists fired nine mortar shells and wounded a child late Wednesday night in Petah Tiqva, a residential suburb only 6 miles from the heart of Tel Aviv.

The attack was the closest to Israel's largest city reported since the June war. Security forces went after the raiders and set up roadblocks.

It was the second mortar shelling of the Tel Aviv area this month. Half a dozen shells burst Nov. 9 on the outskirts of Kfar Sava, seven miles to the north.

Both raids were blamed on El Fatah, the Syrian-backed terrorist organization.

At U.N. headquarters, meanwhile, sources in a position to know said they expect the new U.N. special representative to the Middle East, Gunnar Jarring, to delay his peace mission until after the Arab summit conference scheduled to start Dec. 9 in Rabat, Morocco.

They said U.N. officials advised a delay because the meeting is supposed to establish a joint Arab position toward Jarring's mission seeking settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR FOLKS: This is especially for you young mothers who need to make slipcovers for throw pillows, favorite chairs, etc. in your den or family room.

Don't throw away those old chenille bedspreads. Use them to slipcover with! They are absolutely terrific. When they get soiled, all you have to do is take them off, throw them in your washer and they require no ironing whatsoever. They are comfy and cuddly.

Now, if you want to go buy a new chenille bedspread that's on sale, this is fine with me. But be sure it's on sale and watch your ads in the paper, gals. You'd be surprised because at some sales, you can often buy a king, queen or double size spread for about the same price as you can a twin size. Usually these are dumped on a bargain table, so look carefully to get the biggest size you can.

And don't throw away that old chenille robe, either. I know you have worn it for years, but just look at all of that still good material in the skirt part.

This can be used for many things, such as recovering breakfast room chair. About five years ago I covered some with chenille and they turned out lush!

The worn-out parts are fabulous for dust cloths, cleaning silver, polishing furniture, etc. (and boy, if you've ever sprayed an OLD piece of chenille with a light spray to polish furniture with, you'll know what I mean.)

So, gals, let's don't throw anything away that can be put to good use.

If you've got any more good ideas of what to do with that old bathrobe, worn-out pants, T-shirts, blue jeans, etc., do let us know. Just write to Heloise in care of this paper. We sure would love to hear from you.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: For secretaries who make "perk" coffee at the office and find the grounds a problem, try using a little plastic bag to dump the grounds in. Then just flip over the top and staple.

Works great and sure keeps your wastebasket from getting messed up.

SECRETARY

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a quick way to make your closet look pretty as a picture.

Use colorful adhesive-backed paper and line the shelves from top to bottom. Also cover the clothes pole, hat boxes and anything else to get the color coordination you want — even walls if you wish.

If you use wooden hangers, spray paint them.

It makes for a very pretty closet that you are proud for any guest to see.

MRS. B. R. WELTMAN.

DEAR HELOISE: When I am ready for a thorough house cleaning, I begin a few days ahead to pick up things and put them away. I also spot clean around door handles and walls.

When I'm ready to start the heavy cleaning, all of this is done and makes the hard part go much faster and easier.

MRS. FORREST GILLETT.

DEAR FOLKS: When you want to thaw steaks or chops, don't put them directly on your drainboard where they thaw slowly on the bottom side.

Either use a cake rack cooler or just remove a burner rack from your stove, place it on your drainboard, and lay the steaks on it.

This allows the air to get under the rack for quicker thawing, top and bottom.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Before discarding unwanted clothing, be sure to remove all good zippers, buttons and trimming. Wonderful to have on hand for mending, school costumes, doll clothes or decorating homemade projects.

DEAR HELOISE: When painting a room and you get to the ceiling, push the handle of your paint brush through the center of an old sponge.

Sure great for catching all those drip, drip, drips.

Auto Strikes District Boy On Route 39

A 6-year-old Wellsville area boy was in "fair" condition today at Osteopathic Hospital with injuries suffered when struck by an auto on Route 39 near his home Wednesday afternoon.

Christopher Wayne Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence (Jimmy) Baker of Route 39, suffered a fractured leg and head bruises when struck by an auto operated by Raymond Crumbley Sr., 63, of 1707 Clark Ave., Wellsville.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the boy ran into the path of Crumbley's eastbound car about four miles east of Route 164.

The first-grader at Highlandtown School said he saw one car approaching at a distance and ran across the road, not seeing Crumbley's, the family reported.

He was out selling toothbrushes as part of a fund - raising project connected with the school.

The boy's father remains at home in a cast required after he was burned in a mishap at the Crucible Steel Co. Midland Division plant a few weeks ago.

Paper Awarded Damages From Printers Local

CLEVELAND (AP)—An arbitrator has awarded the Forest City Publishing Co., publisher of the Plain Dealer, $3,427 in damages from Local 53, Cleveland Typographical Union.

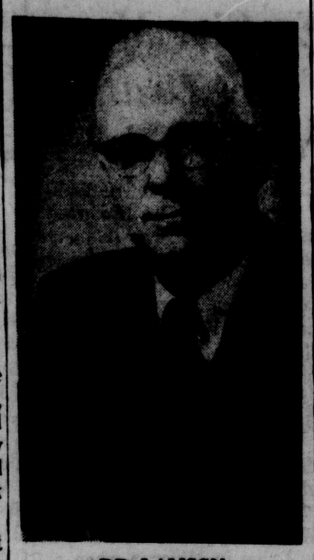

The arbitrator, South Euclid Municipal Court Judge Jerome A. Klein, ruled Wednesday in favor of the company's argument that the union violated its contract by holding unauthorized chapel meetings May 1 and 2 of this year and May 27 and 28 of last year.

The judge ruled the meetings during working hours delayed the publishing of the Plain Dealer.

The arbitration award compensated the company for wages paid employes who attended the meetings and overtime that had to be paid to other workers because the newspaper's editions were late.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR FOLKS: This is especially for you young mothers who need to make slipcovers for throw pillows, favorite chairs, etc. in your den or family room.

Don't throw away those old chenille bedspreads. Use them to slipcover with! They are absolutely terrific. When they get soiled, all you have to do is take them off, throw them in your washer and they require no ironing whatsoever. They are comfy and cuddly.

Now, if you want to go buy a new chenille bedspread that's on sale, this is fine with me. But be sure it's on sale and watch your ads in the paper, gals. You'd be surprised because at some sales, you can often buy a king, queen or double size spread for about the same price as you can a twin size. Usually these are dumped on a bargain table, so look carefully to get the biggest size you can.

And don't throw away that old chenille robe, either. I know you have worn it for years, but just look at all of that still good material in the skirt part.

This can be used for many things, such as recovering breakfast room chair. About five years ago I covered some with chenille and they turned out lush!

The worn-out parts are fabulous for dust cloths, cleaning silver, polishing furniture, etc. (and boy, if you've ever sprayed an OLD piece of chenille with a light spray to polish furniture with, you'll know what I mean.)

So, gals, let's don't throw anything away that can be put to good use.

If you've got any more good ideas of what to do with that old bathrobe, worn-out pants, T-shirts, blue jeans, etc., do let us know. Just write to Heloise in care of this paper. We sure would love to hear from you.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: For secretaries who make "perk" coffee at the office and find the grounds a problem, try using a little plastic bag to dump the grounds in. Then just flip over the top and staple.

Works great and sure keeps your wastebasket from getting messed up.

SECRETARY

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a quick way to make your closet look pretty as a picture.

Use colorful adhesive-backed paper and line the shelves from top to bottom. Also cover the clothes pole, hat boxes and anything else to get the color coordination you want — even walls if you wish.

If you use wooden hangers, spray paint them.

It makes for a very pretty closet that you are proud for any guest to see.

MRS. B. R. WELTMAN.

DEAR HELOISE: When I am ready for a thorough house cleaning, I begin a few days ahead to pick up things and put them away. I also spot clean around door handles and walls.

When I'm ready to start the heavy cleaning, all of this is done and makes the hard part go much faster and easier.

MRS. FORREST GILLETT.

DEAR FOLKS: When you want to thaw steaks or chops, don't put them directly on your drainboard where they thaw slowly on the bottom side.

Either use a cake rack cooler or just remove a burner rack from your stove, place it on your drainboard, and lay the steaks on it.

This allows the air to get under the rack for quicker thawing, top and bottom.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Before discarding unwanted clothing, be sure to remove all good zippers, buttons and trimming. Wonderful to have on hand for mending, school costumes, doll clothes or decorating homemade projects.

DEAR HELOISE: When painting a room and you get to the ceiling, push the handle of your paint brush through the center of an old sponge.

Sure great for catching all those drip, drip, drips.

Auto Strikes District Boy On Route 39

A 6-year-old Wellsville area boy was in "fair" condition today at Osteopathic Hospital with injuries suffered when struck by an auto on Route 39 near his home Wednesday afternoon.

Christopher Wayne Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence (Jimmy) Baker of Route 39, suffered a fractured leg and head bruises when struck by an auto operated by Raymond Crumbley Sr., 63, of 1707 Clark Ave., Wellsville.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the boy ran into the path of Crumbley's eastbound car about four miles east of Route 164.

The first-grader at Highlandtown School said he saw one car approaching at a distance and ran across the road, not seeing Crumbley's, the family reported.

He was out selling toothbrushes as part of a fund - raising project connected with the school.

The boy's father remains at home in a cast required after he was burned in a mishap at the Crucible Steel Co. Midland Division plant a few weeks ago.

Paper Awarded Damages From Printers Local

CLEVELAND (AP)—An arbitrator has awarded the Forest City Publishing Co., publisher of the Plain Dealer, $3,427 in damages from Local 53, Cleveland Typographical Union.

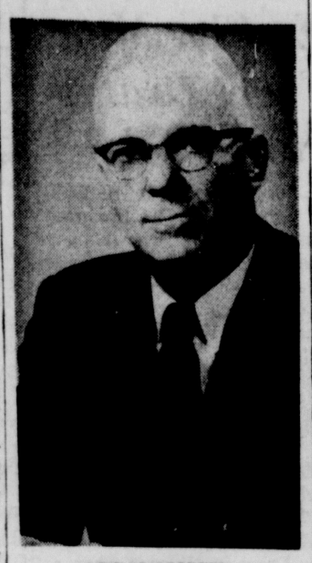

The arbitrator, South Euclid Municipal Court Judge Jerome A. Klein, ruled Wednesday in favor of the company's argument that the union violated its contract by holding unauthorized chapel meetings May 1 and 2 of this year and May 27 and 28 of last year.

The judge ruled the meetings during working hours delayed the publishing of the Plain Dealer.

The arbitration award compensated the company for wages paid employes who attended the meetings and overtime that had to be paid to other workers because the newspaper's editions were late.

30-Day Term Given Women In Car Crash

A Midland woman who pleaded guilty Wednesday afternoon to the second drunken driving charge within a year drew a 30-day term in County Jail and a fine of $200 and costs from Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Mrs. Laura R. Hanna of 648 Beaver Ave., Midland, was cited by Patrolman H. Clyde Dillon Saturday after her car veered off the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." and crashed into a guardrail. She was hospitalized until Tuesday, then appeared before the judge yesterday.

Mrs. Hanna initially asked a continuance until Monday to allow her to obtain counsel, then decided a few hours later to enter a guilty plea. She was being held in jail in lieu of a $507 appearance bond.

The judge commented in passing sentence that she was released from jail a year ago yesterday after her first local conviction on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Five more were fined today by Judge Chertoff on traffic offenses and two forfeited appearance bonds.

Fines of $10 and costs were imposed on three cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol on speeding charges. They were: Gary F. Morris of 1350 Russell Heights, Wellsville, Gary W. Steepleton of 809 Wood St., Wellsville, and Roy J. Wilburn of Stratton.

Minor P. Lyons of Cincinnati was fined $20 and costs on a patrol speeding charge. Donald Royer of 1827 Dakota Ave. was fined $5 and costs on a charge of crashing a traffic light at E. 5th St. and Broadway Wednesday night.

The judge issued a bench warrant for Harry E. O'Malley of Greensburg, Pa., who failed to appear on a speeding citation issued by the patrol last Friday on Route 30.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Your column urging people not to take dogs on shopping trips where they are left cooped up in locked cars prompted me to write a letter that might save a life.

Last summer a Minneapolis man went to visit his wife who was in the hospital. He brought their infant son along. The hospital authorities would not allow him to bring the baby into the hospital because of the rules. He took the child back to the car and locked him in. When he returned, he found to his horror that the child had died of suffocation.

Please inform your readers that they should never — repeat, NEVER — lock children in a car. Either take the kids shopping or leave them at home. — MINNESOTAN.

Dear Min: I was appalled to receive nearly 50 letters from all over the country reporting on children who were burned or suffocated after having been left in locked cars. I had no idea of the immensity of this problem. Thank you all for writing. You got the word to over 50 million people today.

Her Own Judge

Dear Ann: Please don't throw this in the wastebasket because it sounds like a foolish problem. I KNOW it's foolish; that's why I'm writing to you. I can't talk about it to anyone.

I'm a girl 18 who doesn't have one friend I consider worthwhile. I realize nobody is perfect, but I seem to pick apart every person I spend more than 20 minutes with. This one is loud, that one is dumb, the next one is a hypocrite and the one after that is a bore.

Please don't say I need new friends. The problem is not them, it's ME. Why do I magnify other people's imperfections until they look so unattractive that I don't want to have anything to do with them?

Please help me if you can. Or am I — HOPELESS IN CINCINNATI.

Dear Cin: Your statement, "The problem is not with them, it's with me," indicates you are far from hopeless — recognizing a problem is the first step toward solving it.

Chronic fault finders are in reality dissatisfied with themselves. The person who is confident and secure does not demand perfection in his friends. He's content to take them as they are.

Get busy and work at being the kind of person you'd like to be and you'll be less critical of others. A wise philosopher once said, "'A great deal of what we see in others is the reflection of what we are."

Marking Time

Dear Ann: Your reply to the exhausted bag boy whose lady customers couldn't remember where they had parked their cars didn't make much sense to your faithful readers who live in Davenport, Iowa.

You suggested that the supermarkets letter the posts to make it easier for people to find their cars. Well, we did that long ago, but it hasn't helped. Not only do the ladies forget which letter they parked by, they also forget to tell us they knocked down the post so we can replace it.

So, keep trying, Ann, you may get it on the second try. — IOWA READER.

Dear Iowa: Have you considered metal posts with the letters printed on a plate atop the pole? Some of the ladies might have to replace a few headlights and fenders, but after awhile they'll remember the posts are there and your problem will be solved.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

College Students Raise Funds To Head Off Merger

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky Southern College students have waged a successful 29-day campaign and raised $1.18 million in pledges and cash to head off a proposed merger with the University of Louisville.

Wednesday, KSC's board of trustees reconsidered the proposed merger, which was planned because of a $4.5 million debt, and voted 18-1 for independence.

The students who last week had asked for a tuition raise if it would help matters indicate they're happy they'll be charged $200 more per trimester next month if it means saving their school.

It was a long four-hour wait as some 200 of the 800-member student body sat outside the board meeting for the second time in four weeks, again waiting word.

Then, L. Leroy Highbaugh Jr., chairman of the board, stepped out and silence prevailed in the hallway as he told them that remaining independent would have some effect on their pocketbooks.

Highbaugh said the school would continue on its own for the next year but added that a guarantee for the future was difficult.

Ex-Ohio Legislator Dies Of Heart Attack

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Richard A. Nye, an Akron lawyer and former state representative, died of an apparent heart attack Wednesday at his home. He was 63.

Nye was the father of State Sen. William B. Nye, D-28, Akron. He was a member of Akron City Council in 1932-33 and served in the Ohio House in 1961-62.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Your column urging people not to take dogs on shopping trips where they are left cooped up in locked cars prompted me to write a letter that might save a life.

Last summer a Minneapolis man went to visit his wife who was in the hospital. He brought their infant son along. The hospital authorities would not allow him to bring the baby into the hospital because of the rules. He took the child back to the car and locked him in. When he returned, he found to his horror that the child had died of suffocation.

Please inform your readers that they should never — repeat, NEVER — lock children in a car. Either take the kids shopping or leave them at home. — MINNESOTAN.

Dear Min: I was appalled to receive nearly 50 letters from all over the country reporting on children who were burned or suffocated after having been left in locked cars. I had no idea of the immensity of this problem. Thank you all for writing. You got the word to over 50 million people today.

Her Own Judge

Dear Ann: Please don't throw this in the wastebasket because it sounds like a foolish problem. I KNOW it's foolish; that's why I'm writing to you. I can't talk about it to anyone.

I'm a girl 18 who doesn't have one friend I consider worthwhile. I realize nobody is perfect, but I seem to pick apart every person I spend more than 20 minutes with. This one is loud, that one is dumb, the next one is a hypocrite and the one after that is a bore.

Please don't say I need new friends. The problem is not them, it's ME. Why do I magnify other people's imperfections until they look so unattractive that I don't want to have anything to do with them?

Please help me if you can. Or am I — HOPELESS IN CINCINNATI.

Dear Cin: Your statement, "The problem is not with them, it's with me," indicates you are far from hopeless — recognizing a problem is the first step toward solving it.

Chronic fault finders are in reality dissatisfied with themselves. The person who is confident and secure does not demand perfection in his friends. He's content to take them as they are.

Get busy and work at being the kind of person you'd like to be and you'll be less critical of others. A wise philosopher once said, "'A great deal of what we see in others is the reflection of what we are."

Marking Time

Dear Ann: Your reply to the exhausted bag boy whose lady customers couldn't remember where they had parked their cars didn't make much sense to your faithful readers who live in Davenport, Iowa.

You suggested that the supermarkets letter the posts to make it easier for people to find their cars. Well, we did that long ago, but it hasn't helped. Not only do the ladies forget which letter they parked by, they also forget to tell us they knocked down the post so we can replace it.

So, keep trying, Ann, you may get it on the second try. — IOWA READER.

Dear Iowa: Have you considered metal posts with the letters printed on a plate atop the pole? Some of the ladies might have to replace a few headlights and fenders, but after awhile they'll remember the posts are there and your problem will be solved.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

College Students Raise Funds To Head Off Merger

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky Southern College students have waged a successful 29-day campaign and raised $1.18 million in pledges and cash to head off a proposed merger with the University of Louisville.

Wednesday, KSC's board of trustees reconsidered the proposed merger, which was planned because of a $4.5 million debt, and voted 18-1 for independence.

The students who last week had asked for a tuition raise if it would help matters indicate they're happy they'll be charged $200 more per trimester next month if it means saving their school.

It was a long four-hour wait as some 200 of the 800-member student body sat outside the board meeting for the second time in four weeks, again waiting word.

Then, L. Leroy Highbaugh Jr., chairman of the board, stepped out and silence prevailed in the hallway as he told them that remaining independent would have some effect on their pocketbooks.

Highbaugh said the school would continue on its own for the next year but added that a guarantee for the future was difficult.

In Hancock CD Course

15 Are Certified For 'Monitoring'

Certificates were presented Wednesday night to 15 Newell area residents who have completed a Civil Defense training program in radiological monitoring.

Honored at ceremonies in the Newell fire station were:

THE CERTIFICATES were presented by Andrew Kondick, Hancock County CD director, and Jack Evans, president of the Court of Commissioners.

Peter Horoszko of Newell, a teacher at Wells Junior High School, was instructor for the course, which covered a six - week period, with a three-hour session each week. The CD program requires at least 16 hours of training.

Horoszko is one of three Hancock residents qualified to instruct such courses.

Mrs. Gibas, Mrs. Kiger and Mrs. Beckner are members of the Junior Women's Club. In addition, Mrs. Gibas is a nurse and Mrs. Kiger a registered X-ray technician. Mrs. Marlene Deese and Karen Deese, Mrs. Duncan and Mrs. Coen are members of the fire department Auxiliary.

After the presentation, the 15 worked in teams with Geiger counters to locate three stainless steel vials containing cobalt 60 which Horoszko had secreted in the room as a final part of the course. The vials, which are used for testing purposes in the county when the course is given, are carried by Kondick in his auto sealed in a lead container.

—:—

KONDICK explained he and Carl Townsend of Weirton and Horoszko are the three county instructors licensed by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Kondick reported several surveys have been completed in the county, including a basement survey of residents' homes. He said the community shelter survey will be finished by March.

Kondick explained radiological monitoring is indispensable to Civil Defense groups. In the event of nuclear attack, trained monitors will be required to furnish information essential for protection of the people. Monitoring services will be required from the period shortly after an attack until the radiological hazard from fallout diminishes to the point that normal activities may be resumed without significant danger to the population of a community, Kondick pointed out.

—:—

DURING the early post-attack period when people would be in a shelter, most monitoring would be performed from fallout monitoring stations and from shelters.

The radiological information needed by shelter occupants, and by the federal state and local governments for survival activities, would require monitoring of personnel, food and water and monitoring of areas in-shelter and possibly out-of-shelter. Aerial monitoring may be required for rapid survey of large areas of specific transportation routes.

When dose rates had decreased to the extent that limited outside activities could be performed, Kondick continued, some shelter monitors, and probably all fallout station monitors, would become mobilized and would support operations of emergency services, such as fire, police and rescue teams.

Kondick pointed out he will hold other courses in the northern portion of the county in the future in an attempt to train as many as possible in Hancock in the procedures involved in civil defense.

'Favorite Son' Bid Due Rhodes Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Republican State Central and Executive Committee, meeting here today, is expected to invite Gov. James A. Rhodes to be "favorite son" for the party's slate of delegates to the GOP National Convention.

Rhodes, asked what action he would take on such an invitation, replied, "I will make no decision until after Dec. 15. I haven't made up my mind yet."

Rhodes has repeatedly insisted he would not be a candidate for a spot on the GOP national ticket next year. However, this would not prevent him from being the "favorite son" candidate for party candidate for delegates at the primaries next May.

Judge John F. Clair Jr. ordered the courtroom closed to the jury, newsmen and the public while lawyers for both sides argued legal questions concerning what the judge called the admissibility of evidence.

Miller Farr Top AFL Defender

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Miller Farr stuck his finger in Houston's dam and presto, the Oilers became American Football League title contenders.

Farr was named the American Football League's Defensive Player of the Week for the second time this season by The Associated Press today for his part in Houston's 27-6 victory over Boston last Sunday. He is the first man to receive Player of the Week honors twice this season.

When Houston Coach Wally Lemm studied the Oilers' statistical performance after last season, it wasn't too tough for him to see where Houston was hurting most.

"We gave up 25 touchdowns over the left cornerback position last year," said Lemm. "That had to stop."

So the Oilers dealt for Farr, surrendering linebacker John Baker and tackle Scott Appleton to get him away from the San Diego Chargers.

"The trade for Farr helped us where we needed help most," said Lemm. "He's as good as any defensive back I've ever had."

And that would include Larry Wilson and Pat Fischer, who played under Lemm when he coached the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League.

Only one touchdown has been scored in Farr's zone this season and that by San Diego's dynamic flanker, Lance Alworth. Over-all, the Oilers, who trail New York by one game in the AFL's Eastern race, have surrendered only 12 TDs all year—less than half the number scored over the left cornerback zone alone last season.

Against Boston, Farr made two interceptions, returning one 62 yards for a touchdown. He also recovered a Patriot fumble that Houston turned into a field goal.

The two interceptions gave him a league leading eight for the season. He has returned three for touchdowns and has chalked up 258 yards running them back.

Tribe Receives Jose Cardenal

By CHARLES GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Little Luis Aparicio, the the speedy shortstop who once helped the Chicago White Sox win a pennant, returns to Comiskey Park after a five-year absence in one of a dozen trades involving 18 players made at the winter baseball meetings.

"That is good news. Wait until I tell my wife," Aparicio said when Chicago General Manager Eddie Short called him in Maracaibo, Venezuela to break the news.

The White Sox got Aparicio back from Baltimore Wednesday in a six-player deal designed to solve problems for both clubs. The Venezuelan will aid the White Sox defense while Baltimore tried to strengthen its pitching staff which collapsed last season.

Chicago gave up pitchers Bruce Howard and Roger Nelson and infielder Don Buford. The Orioles dealt outfielder Russ Snyder and John Matias, a minor league first basemen. The Orioles had earlier traded knuckleball pitcher Eddie Fisher to Cleveland for lefty John O'Donoghue.

The Baltimore-Chicago swap and one involving Cleveland and the California Angels were the only action on the trading block Wednesday although several clubs still were looking to make deals.

There was a rumor of a trade between the Boston Red Sox and Cincinnati in which catcher Mike Ryan and pitcher Bill Rohr would go to the Reds in exchange for pitcher Sammy Ellis and catcher John Edwards.

Baltimore was negotiating with several clubs for Aparicio, 33, confident that young Mark Belanger can step into the vacancy at shortstop.

The New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers both felt they were close to making a deal for Aparicio.

Harry Dalton, Baltimore's director of player personnel, said a trade with the Tigers or the Yanks would have meant giving up some of the Orioles' top young prospects and he wasn't prepared to do that.

Lee MacPhail, Yankee vice president and general manager said his deal for Aparicio would have involved three teams — New York, Washington and Baltimore.

Shortstop has been a key in both major transactions announced so far. Zoilo Versalles was the major factor in the big Los Angeles-Minnesota swap Tuesday which still had tongues wagging. Versalles and pitcher Mudcat Grant went to the Dodgers in exchange for catcher John Roseboro and pitchers Ron Perranoski and Bob Miller.

Cleveland sent Chuck Hinton to the California Angels for Jose Cardenal in an exchange of right-hand hitting outfielders.

"We still like Aparicio but we just had to find a spot for Belanger," said Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer. Aparicio's batting average fell from .276 to .233 last season.

Bauer said Howard, 24, was a deciding factor for Baltimore in the deal despite his 3-10 record last season with Chicago.

"Howard has pitched good against us. He has a good slider and will fit into our starting rotation with Jim Palmer, Dave McNally, Tom Phoebus and Jim Hardin," Bauer said.

Ohio St. Seen Improved

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fred Taylor, starting his 10th campaign as basketball coach at Ohio State, looks for the Buckeyes to move up a few notches in the Big Ten race.

"We're optimistic about our chances," Taylor said at a preseason luncheon preview Wednesday.

"We hope for some improvement, particularly on defense, but realize the rest of the league is stronger, too."

Much of the optimism rests on the burly shoulders of senior Bill Hosket, the 6-foot-7 Dayton native who appears sound after a knee operation.

Hosket, plagued by injuries last year, still managed to lead the Bucks in every department, including scoring with 412 points for a 19.6 average and rebounding with 264 retrieves.

Ohio finished 13-11 but its 6-8 log in the conference put it in a tie for seventh place.

"We think we'll be stronger because we have a number of experienced returnees and we have better size, which should give us more rebounding on offensive boards," Taylor said.

He said ball handling and passing have been stressed in preseason drills because "turnovers cost us heavily last year."

The two major problems currently confronting Taylor are an over-all lack of team speed and forward Jeff Miller's knee injury.

"We figure Miller will miss the first two games but we don't think the injury is more serious than that," Taylor said.

Miller, one of the best shooters on the club, was Ohio's No. 3 scorer and rebounder a year ago.

Taylor plans to use sophomore Dave Sorenson of Findlay in a double post with Hosket. The 6-7 Sorenson was one of the most highly touted high school cagers in the state two years ago.

"We expect a lot from him," Taylor said. "He has a good touch and can rebound."

The Buckeyes coach also expected good things from another soph, Jody Finney of Springfield. But the 6-3 Finney, tried at guard, has not delivered in practice sessions.

Junior Denny Meadors, also recovered from injuries, is definitely ticketed for one guard spot.

"The fifth spot on this team will be like playing musical chairs," Taylor said.

Against Davis of California in Friday night's opener, Taylor will go with Steve Howell as Miller's replacement and will use Bruce Schnabel as Meadors running mate.

But there are others bidding for the backcourt position, including Finney, Jim Geddes, Mike Swain and Craig Barclay.

Taylor tabs Indians as the team to beat in the Big Ten.

76ers Beaten Again, Bemoan 15-7 Record

By The Associated Press

Is there anything wrong with the Philadelphia 76ers, champions of the National Basketball Association?

A year ago at this time they were rolling merrily along at a 19-2 clip. Today they are 15-7 and second to the Boston Celtics in the Eastern Division.

"I don't know what the answer is," said Coach Alex Hannum after the 76ers had taken a 113-95 whipping from the San Francisco Warriors at the Philadelphia Spectrum Wednesday night.

And big 7-foot-1 Wilt Chamberlain, who scored only 12 points, nine in the last five minutes, asserted, "There's nothing wrong with me."

It was the seventh straight victory for San Francisco and moved the Warriors within one-half game of the first-place St. Louis Hawks in the Western Division.

New York scored a 119-99 road victory over Cincinnati and Detroit, playing at home, defeated Los Angeles 127-123 in the other scheduled NBA games.

The last time the Warriors played in Philadelphia they held Chamberlain to just one point. This time 6-11 Nate Thurmond of the Warriors held Chamberlain to three field goals, the first of which came with five minutes left and the 76ers behind by 16 points.

Jeff Mullins, with 22 points, and Fred Hetzel, with 20, topped the Warriors. Chet Walker got 24 and Luke Jackson 23 to top the 76ers.

New York broke a 43-43 tie with Cincinnati on Phil Jackson's basket, then opened a 33-point lead to rout the Royals, once again minus Oscar Robertson because of a knee injury. Willis Reed's 18 points paced the Knicks. Happy Hairston was high for the Royals with 20.

Key points by Dave Bing and Eddie Miles snapped a 110-110 tie and enabled Detroit to hold off a late surge by Los Angeles. Bing and Miles each got 32 points for the Pistons. Elgin Baylor topped the Lakers with 30.

Expansion Top Subject For Majors

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Expansion was expected to be the big subject today when American and National League club owners started their sessions during the 66th winter baseball meetings.

The owners opened the day with a joint meeting presided over by Commissioner William D. Eckert, then split into league meetings which continue through Friday. They are to end the discussions with another joint meeting Saturday.

Expansion was expected to be the top subject for both leagues. The American League already has decided to expand to 12 teams in 1969 with the addition of Seattle and a replacement for the Kansas City Athletics, who moved to Oakland. But it has not yet been decided which interested parties will get the Seattle and Kansas City franchises or how the teams will be stocked.

Tom Sherman of Penn State, with fine performance in his last two games, is up to sixth in total offense nationally.

John Schneider of Toledo ranks fourth and Cleve Bryant of Ohio U. 15th. Schneider is sixth in passing and Sherman 18th.

Ohio players are more numerous in rushing, with Don Fitzgerald of Kent State 13th, Dick Conley of Ohio U. 15th, Roland Moss of Toledo 16th and Bill Mayo of Dayton 20th. Dale Livingston of Western Michigan is fourth in punting. Wil Perry of Kent State is the lone receiver ranked at 26th. Moss is tied for second in scoring and teammate Ken Cross is tied for 11th in scoring by kicking. Don Abbey of Penn State is fifth in scoring and Ken Juskowich of West Virginia is seventh in scoring by kicking. Juskowich's five field goals against Pitt stand as a season high. Another Mountaineer, John Mallory, is fourth in punt returns. Steve Bailey of Xavier is fifth in interception returns.

Teamwise Toledo shows up well. The Rockets are 12th in total offense, fifth in total defense, 10th in pass defense and tied for third in defense against scoring. Miami is 12th in rushing offense, West Virginia is ninth in total defense and 10th in rushing defense, Kent State is sixth in pass defense, Dayton is seventh in pass defense and Western Michigan is fifth in punting.

Toledo set an all-time record by throwing Northern Illinois for a net 109 yards in losses rushing. Miami set a season high by holding Marshall to a net minus 18 yards total offense.

TWO MEMBERS of the South Side Rams football team, center Greg Butcher and fullback Ron Peden have been named to the All-WPIAL Class B 33-man team.

WELLSVILLE'S Steve Baldwin, a senior at Steubenville College, is shooting for his second basketball letter this year. He is 6-7 and averaged 3.7 a game last season. Others on the Baron squad include senior Bob McCosky and sophomore Jerry Madden of Steubenville and freshman Jim Snyder of Rochester.

McVay, Tice Christian Honored

Two members of this year's standout East Liverpool High School grid team and one from Stanton Local High have been accorded berths on the 26th annual All-Eastern Ohio team selected by the Martins Ferry Times-Leader.

Named to the Class AA team were halfback - quarterback Mike McVay and end Bruce Christian of East Liverpool, while Stanton Local fullback Elmer Tice was chosen to the Class A team.

They will be among 42 grid standouts from a five - county area who'll be honored at a banquet Monday night at St. Mary's School auditorium in Martins Ferry.

Principal speaker for the event will be Robert C. Jones, commissioner of the Mid-American Conference.

McVay, definite all - state material, was one of the most versatile gridders in East Liverpool history.

He operated at both halfback and quarterback for Coach Bob McNea's Potters which during the last two campaigns have won 17 games and lost two.

This past season he averaged 4.5 yards for 91 carries, completed 18 of 39 aerials for 365 yards, caught six passes for 75 yards and tallied 96 points. He also ran back punts and kickoffs, averaged 34.9 yards for 17 punts and intercepted one pass. McVay is also a standout basketball performer.

Christian, a 6-5, 205-pounder, was not only a fine blocker from his end position but also nabbed six passes for 185 yards and one touchdown.

Tice, a roly - poly 190-pound senior, was the Red Raiders' top rushing threat and was instrumental in leading Coach Ken Woods' club to a 6-3 mark, although last season's perfect-record club was hard hit by graduation losses. Tice, also a standout basketball performer, tallied 12 touchdowns this season.

Miller Farr Top AFL Defender

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Miller Farr stuck his finger in Houston's dam and presto, the Oilers became American Football League title contenders.

Farr was named the American Football League's Defensive Player of the Week for the second time this season by The Associated Press today for his part in Houston's 27-6 victory over Boston last Sunday. He is the first man to receive Player of the Week honors twice this season.

When Houston Coach Wally Lemm studied the Oilers' statistical performance after last season, it wasn't too tough for him to see where Houston was hurting most.

"We gave up 25 touchdowns over the left cornerback position last year," said Lemm. "That had to stop."

So the Oilers dealt for Farr, surrendering linebacker John Baker and tackle Scott Appleton to get him away from the San Diego Chargers.

"The trade for Farr helped us where we needed help most," said Lemm. "He's as good as any defensive back I've ever had."

And that would include Larry Wilson and Pat Fischer, who played under Lemm when he coached the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League.

Only one touchdown has been scored in Farr's zone this season and that by San Diego's dynamic flanker, Lance Alworth. Over-all, the Oilers, who trail New York by one game in the AFL's Eastern race, have surrendered only 12 TDs all year—less than half the number scored over the left cornerback zone alone last season.

Against Boston, Farr made two interceptions, returning one 62 yards for a touchdown. He also recovered a Patriot fumble that Houston turned into a field goal.

The two interceptions gave him a league leading eight for the season. He has returned three for touchdowns and has chalked up 258 yards running them back.

Tribe Receives Jose Cardenal

By CHARLES GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Little Luis Aparicio, the the speedy shortstop who once helped the Chicago White Sox win a pennant, returns to Comiskey Park after a five-year absence in one of a dozen trades involving 18 players made at the winter baseball meetings.

"That is good news. Wait until I tell my wife," Aparicio said when Chicago General Manager Eddie Short called him in Maracaibo, Venezuela to break the news.

The White Sox got Aparicio back from Baltimore Wednesday in a six-player deal designed to solve problems for both clubs. The Venezuelan will aid the White Sox defense while Baltimore tried to strengthen its pitching staff which collapsed last season.

Chicago gave up pitchers Bruce Howard and Roger Nelson and infielder Don Buford. The Orioles dealt outfielder Russ Snyder and John Matias, a minor league first basemen. The Orioles had earlier traded knuckleball pitcher Eddie Fisher to Cleveland for lefty John O'Donoghue.

The Baltimore-Chicago swap and one involving Cleveland and the California Angels were the only action on the trading block Wednesday although several clubs still were looking to make deals.

There was a rumor of a trade between the Boston Red Sox and Cincinnati in which catcher Mike Ryan and pitcher Bill Rohr would go to the Reds in exchange for pitcher Sammy Ellis and catcher John Edwards.

Baltimore was negotiating with several clubs for Aparicio, 33, confident that young Mark Belanger can step into the vacancy at shortstop.

The New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers both felt they were close to making a deal for Aparicio.

Harry Dalton, Baltimore's director of player personnel, said a trade with the Tigers or the Yanks would have meant giving up some of the Orioles' top young prospects and he wasn't prepared to do that.

Lee MacPhail, Yankee vice president and general manager said his deal for Aparicio would have involved three teams — New York, Washington and Baltimore.

Shortstop has been a key in both major transactions announced so far. Zoilo Versalles was the major factor in the big Los Angeles-Minnesota swap Tuesday which still had tongues wagging. Versalles and pitcher Mudcat Grant went to the Dodgers in exchange for catcher John Roseboro and pitchers Ron Perranoski and Bob Miller.

Cleveland sent Chuck Hinton to the California Angels for Jose Cardenal in an exchange of right-hand hitting outfielders.

"We still like Aparicio but we just had to find a spot for Belanger," said Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer. Aparicio's batting average fell from .276 to .233 last season.

Bauer said Howard, 24, was a deciding factor for Baltimore in the deal despite his 3-10 record last season with Chicago.

"Howard has pitched good against us. He has a good slider and will fit into our starting rotation with Jim Palmer, Dave McNally, Tom Phoebus and Jim Hardin," Bauer said.

Ohio St. Seen Improved

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fred Taylor, starting his 10th campaign as basketball coach at Ohio State, looks for the Buckeyes to move up a few notches in the Big Ten race.

"We're optimistic about our chances," Taylor said at a preseason luncheon preview Wednesday.

"We hope for some improvement, particularly on defense, but realize the rest of the league is stronger, too."

Much of the optimism rests on the burly shoulders of senior Bill Hosket, the 6-foot-7 Daytonian who appears sound after a knee operation.

Hosket, plagued by injuries last year, still managed to lead the Bucks in every department, including scoring with 412 points for a 19.6 average and rebounding with 264 retrieves.

Ohio finished 13-11 but its 6-8 log in the conference put it in a tie for seventh place.

"We think we'll be stronger because we have a number of experienced returnees and we have better size, which should give us more rebounding on offensive boards," Taylor said.

He said ball handling and passing have been stressed in preseason drills because "turnovers cost us heavily last year."

The two major problems currently confronting Taylor are an over-all lack of team speed and forward Jeff Miller's knee injury.

"We figure Miller will miss the first two games but we don't think the injury is more serious than that," Taylor said.

Miller, one of the best shooters on the club, was Ohio's No. 3 scorer and rebounder a year ago.

Taylor plans to use sophomore Dave Sorenson of Findlay in a double post with Hosket. The 6-7 Sorenson was one of the most highly touted high school cagers in the state two years ago.

"We expect a lot from him," Taylor said. "He has a good touch and can rebound."

The Buckeyes coach also expected good things from another soph, Jody Finney of Springfield. But the 6-3 Finney, tried at guard, has not delivered in practice sessions.

Junior Denny Meadors, also recovered from injuries, is definitely ticketed for one guard spot.

"The fifth spot on this team will be like playing musical chairs," Taylor said.

Against Davis of California in Friday night's opener, Taylor will go with Steve Howell as Miller's replacement and will use Bruce Schnabel as Meadors running mate.

But there are others bidding for the backcourt position, including Finney, Jim Geddes, Mike Swain and Craig Barclay.

Taylor tabs Indians as the team to beat in the Big Ten.

76ers Beaten Again, Bemoan 15-7 Record

By The Associated Press

Is there anything wrong with the Philadelphia 76ers, champions of the National Basketball Association?

A year ago at this time they were rolling merrily along at a 19-2 clip. Today they are 15-7 and second to the Boston Celtics in the Eastern Division.

"I don't know what the answer is," said Coach Alex Hannum after the 76ers had taken a 113-95 whipping from the San Francisco Warriors at the Philadelphia Spectrum Wednesday night.

And big 7-foot-1 Wilt Chamberlain, who scored only 12 points, nine in the last five minutes, asserted, "There's nothing wrong with me."

It was the seventh straight victory for San Francisco and moved the Warriors within one-half game of the first-place St. Louis Hawks in the Western Division.

New York scored a 119-99 road victory over Cincinnati and Detroit, playing at home, defeated Los Angeles 127-123 in the other scheduled NBA games.

The last time the Warriors played in Philadelphia they held Chamberlain to just one point. This time 6-11 Nate Thurmond of the Warriors held Chamberlain to three field goals, the first of which came with five minutes left and the 76ers behind by 16 points.

Jeff Mullins, with 22 points, and Fred Hetzel, with 20, topped the Warriors. Chet Walker got 24 and Luke Jackson 23 to top the 76ers.

New York broke a 43-43 tie with Cincinnati on Phil Jackson's basket, then opened a 33-point lead to rout the Royals, once again minus Oscar Robertson because of a knee injury. Willis Reed's 18 points paced the Knicks. Happy Hairston was high for the Royals with 20.

Key points by Dave Bing and Eddie Miles snapped a 110-110 tie and enabled Detroit to hold off a late surge by Los Angeles. Bing and Miles each got 32 points for the Pistons. Elgin Baylor topped the Lakers with 30.

Expansion Top Subject For Majors

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Expansion was expected to be the big subject today when American and National League club owners started their sessions during the 66th winter baseball meetings.

The owners opened the day with a joint meeting presided over by Commissioner William D. Eckert, then split into league meetings which continue through Friday. They are to end the discussions with another joint meeting Saturday.

Expansion was expected to be the top subject for both leagues. The American League already has decided to expand to 12 teams in 1969 with the addition of Seattle and a replacement for the Kansas City Athletics, who moved to Oakland. But it has not yet been decided which interested parties will get the Seattle and Kansas City franchises or how the teams will be stocked.

The Alumni for Evy Committee, headed by former Wolverine football stars Bob Westfall and Ed Frutig, says Evashevski is willing to accept the dual jobs.

In Iowa City, Evashevski said: "I don't know anything about it." Asked if he'd be interested in the job, he replied, "I have no comment to make at this time."

Beavers Are Tall, Quick, Deep; Stockdale Envisions Good Year

Lloyd Stockdale posted 12-6 marks in his first two seasons as Beaver Local basketball coach and this year he is out to break the school's all-time best of 12-5.

The Beavers have four returning lettermen, but more important, according to Stockdale, is that they have mobile height and depth. The Returning lettermen are seniors, 6-1 Mike Piatt, 6-1 Dave Horger, 6-4 Rex Campbell and 6-0 Dennis Klembara. Campbell and Klembara started last year, but Klembara will not be available until January because of a leg injury suffered during football season.

Others on the squad are seniors Bob Squires, 5-10; Jim Reese, 5-10; and Joe Petkovich, 6-1; and juniors Bob Flint, 5-10; Dan Myers, 5-11; Rick Metz, 6-1; and Dave Mason, 6-4.

The Beavers lost all-Ohio Bill Barnhart, Jeff Hall and Don Lyle, starters on last year's club, plus Richard Dunn and Howard Matheny.

"We have the potential to be a fine club," Stockdale admits. "We have good shooting and fair height". He says the Beavers will try to fast break but will use a patterned offense against a zone defense. With eight men available to shuttle in and out Stockdale will use a pressure man-to-man defense.

Although the Beavers are the consensus of the coaches to win the Buckeye Border Conference, Stockdale tabs Wellsville and Springfield Local as hurdles. Oak Glen and North Lima are tough non-conference teams on the Beavers' schedue.

U.S.-Russia Dual Meets May Resume

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Amateur Athletic Union is pondering the possibility that the United States and Russia may resume dual sports event rivalry.

David A. Matlin, AAU president, said a proposition had been received from Russia for the repayment by Russia, over a period of years, of the some $125,000 in losses to the United States due to cancellation of the 1966 dual track meet at Los Angeles.

Russia said its athletes backed out of the meet as a protest against U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war.

Matlin said the situation will be taken up by various AAU committees in track and field, swimming, basketball, wrestling, boxing, gymnastics and other sports.

The AAU's 80th annual convention here ends Saturday.

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — The $35,000 Cajun Classic Golf Tournament opens today with dapper Doug Sanders ranked as the favorite.

Hart To Dave Williams Young Cardinal Battery

ST. LOUIS (AP) — If youth means anything, the Jim Hart-to-Dave Williams passing combination should be a vital part of the St. Louis Cardinals offense for years to come.

Much has been written about the rapid development of the 23-year-old Hart into a starting quarterback in the National Football League. In his second year as a pro, Hart has completed 146-of-309 passes for 15 touchdowns.

And one of the young quarterback's favorite targets is the speedy Williams, who was the team's No. 1 draft choice this year after a brilliant collegiate career at Washington.

In 11 games, Williams has caught 23 passes for 367 yards and a 16-yards-per-catch average. Five times he has scored touchdowns, including two against champion Green Bay on Oct. 30 when the Cardinals lost 31-23.

Williams is the first to admit that stepping into the offensive unit of an NFL team is an awesome task.

Catching a few touchdown passes is good for the confidence, Williams continued, adding with a grin:

"But just when you think you know a lot, along comes a game like the one against the (Chicago) Bears and you feel like an idiot."

The Bears soundly whipped the Cardinals and Williams failed to catch a pass. As a matter of fact, the rugged Chicago defense limited St. Louis to only 14 completions in 42 attempts and Bear defenders intercepted seven.

Last week in a 46-21 loss to Dallas, Williams caught two passes, including a 36-yard touchdown toss.

"With each game," the blond speedster explained, "you see just how much more there is to learn."

The Cardinals, after a fast start, have dropped to a 5-5-1 record and third place in the Eastern Conference's four-team Century division.

Amigos Lose To Austin, Americans

By The Associated Press

John Austin used to score many key points for Boston College in his undergraduate days.

Now a pro, he did the same for the New Jersey Americans in the American Basketball Association Wednesday night to cement a 106-101 victory over the Anaheim Amigos at Teaneck, N.J.

Austin, who had been taken out earlier, came off the bench and scored the last seven points to climax a second-half rally that ended a three-game losing streak for the Americans.

Anaheim held a 16-point lead at 64-48 before the Americans' rally started. Dan Anderson's tio-in put New Jersey ahead for good at 93-92 and Austin's seven consecutive points sewed it up.

Tony Jackson was high scorer for New Jersey with 31 points. Steve Chubin topped the Amigos with 30.

The Houston Mavericks chalked up their fourth straight home victory by beating the Oakland Oaks 102-91. The Kentucky Colonels also won at home, exploding for 42 points in the last quarter to whip the Dallas Chaparrals 111-85 at Louisville in the other ABA game scheduled.

Oakland rallied to within one point at 83-82 with six minutes left, but Houston pulled out of danger with a 10-point burst. Art Becker paced Houston with 21 points. Rod Franz topped Oakland with 28.

Louie Dampier, with 22 points, and Bobby Rascoe, with 21, combined for 43 points to lead Kentucky over Dallas. Bob Verga was high for the Chaparrals with 24.

Bucyk Keeps NHL Bruins Rolling Along

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — John Bucyk is anxious to stand alone as Boston's top goal scorer of all time, but he's even more eager to help keep the surprising Bruins at the top of the National Hockey League's East Division standings.

The veteran winger scored twice in Wednesday night's 5-1 victory over Minnesota to tie Hall of Famer Milt Schmidt as Boston's top career goal producer. He might have had another, but chose instead to pass off to teammate John McKenzie for a surer shot.

The score was 1-1 early in the second period when Bucyk took a pass from center Fred Stanfield at the left of the North Stars' net. It looked like a probable goal, but McKenzie was all alone on the right for a certain one, so Bucyk slid the puck to him.

Later Bucyk banged in his 12th and 13th goals of the season to nail down the victory and keep the Bruins two points ahead of Toronto, which defeated Montreal 2-1.

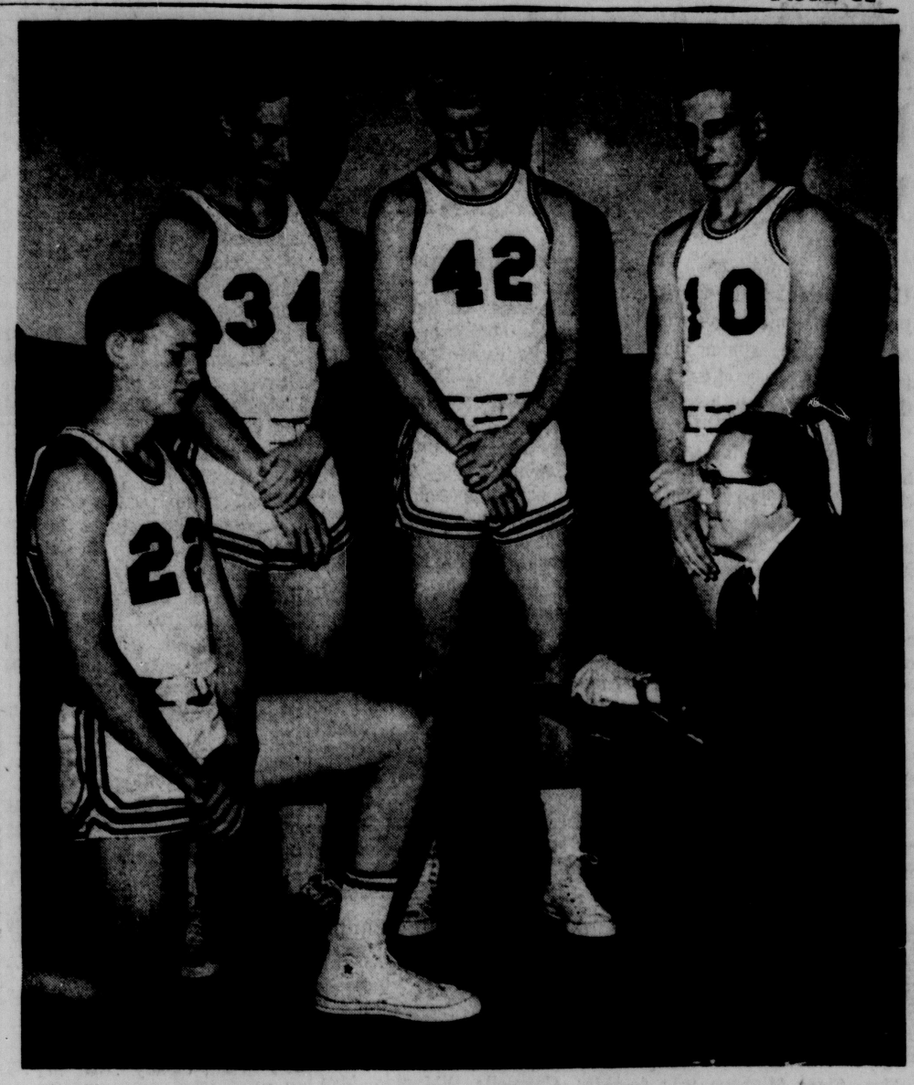

"Records—I got a lot of time to break those," Bucyk said. "When you've got a man in front of an open net the way McKenzie was, you have to make sure."

Bucyk tipped in his own rebound for his first goal and managed to get control of a bouncing puck and shove it past goalie Cesare Maniago for his second—bringing forth a lengthy ovation when it was announced that he had tied Schmidt's Boston career mark of 229.

Elsewhere Wednesday night, Toronto edged Montreal 2-1; Detroit topped New York 3-1, Chicago beat Philadelphia 3-1, Pittsburgh drubbed Oakland 6-1 and St. Louis shaded Los Angeles 3-2.

Frank Mahovlich returned to the Toronto line-up after a 28-day absence and set up Mike Walton's first-period goal before Jim Pappin gave the Maple Leafs a 2-0 lead in the final session. Montreal's Gilles Tremblay ruined Johnny Bower's shutout bid with less than two minutes to play.

Keith McCreary, with two goals, and Bob Dillabough, with a goal and two assists, led Pittsburgh's assault. Gene Ubriaco, Andy Bathgate and Ab McDonald completed the Penguin scoring while Gerry Ehman's third-period tally for the Seals deprived goalie Les Binkley of a shutout.

Racing Bill Needs Signature

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer will await a report from the Attorney General's Office before deciding whether to sign or veto legislation that would legalize thoroughbred horse racing in Pennsylvania.

"We have no position on this bill, and we'll wait until we receive the attorney general's analysis," an aide to the governor said Wednesday after the meaure was cleared by the General Assembly.

The House approved the legislation, 126-70, after unsuccessful attempts to recommit the bill and to amend it with a provision for local option.

Similar bills have been defeated in almost every previous legislative session.

Shafer had said earlier he would sign a thoroughbred racing bill if it were passed in "proper form." Atty. Gen. William C. Sennett decides whether a bill is in proper form.

If the bill is signed by the governor, Pennsylvania will become the 29th state permitting pari-mutual gambling on thoroughbred racing. Harness racing was legalized in the commonwealth under an act approved in 1959.

Senate Majority Whip Albert R. Pechan, R-Armstrong, chief sponsor of the bill, said he was delighted with the House's action because "our educational system will benefit as a result of the revenue derived."

Under the bill, which the Senate passed last week, a thoroughbred racing commission would be created to license four operations, the number licensed under the Harness Racing Act.

No harness racing association could be licensed to conduct thoroughbred racing, but nothing would stop a thoroughbred association from leasing a harness track. At present, there are three harness tracks, located in Philadelphia, Washington and Luzerne counties.

Four associations are licensed to conduct harness races, and the Senate has released from committee a House bill to authorize a fifth license.

Last year, Pennsylvania netted 7.1 million from harness racing, ranking third in the nation. New York was tops with $70.6 million and Illinois, second with $12.9 million.

As in harness racing, the state would collect in taxes 5 per cent of money bet on thoroughbreds and the track would take 1 per cent, much of which would go for purse money and operating costs. Any track located in Philadelphia would take out an extra 2 per cent for school taxes.

Willye White Hits Out At Negro Olympic Boycott

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Willye White, feminine Negro star aiming at her fourth Olympic Games, suggested Wednesday proponents of a boycott of the 1968 Mexico City Olympics by Negro athletes are on the wrong track.

"Boycotting the Olympics is boycotting the nations of the world in a great display of equality and friendship," Miss White, 27, a world class long jumper since the 1956 Melbourne Olympics, told The Associated Press.

"I can suggest specific issues and more specific methods of protest in behalf of Negro status than this boycott proposal which seems to be centered around San Jose, Calif.

"The question could be brought up why don't we have Negroes on our Olympic swimming, gymnastics and many other Olympic units beyond track, basketball and boxing.

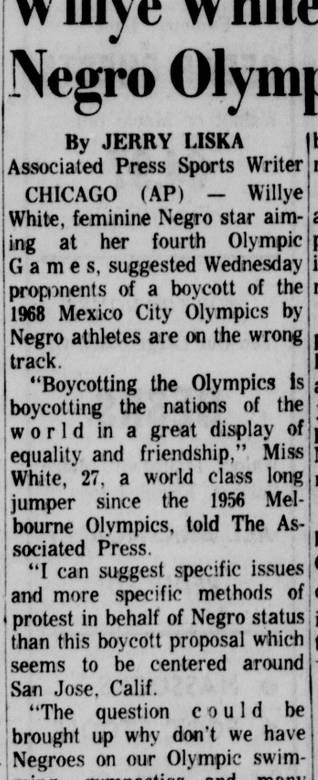

"This is something that could be protested directly to the U.S. Olympic Committee, and nothing so vague as an Olympic boycott against a body of nations."

Miss White, a shapely practical nurse and an inoculating technician for the Chicago Board of Health, said her only knowledge of the West Coast boycott movement came from reading newspapers.

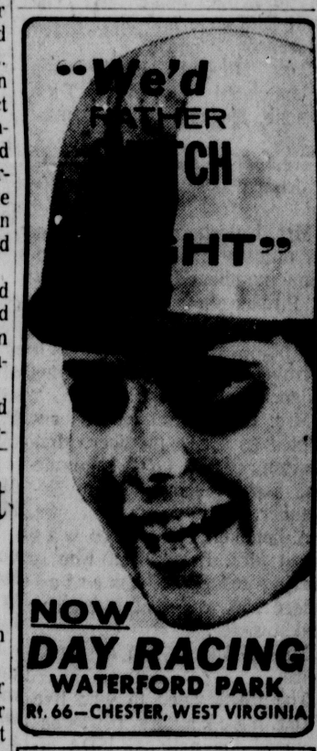

"I'm sure if it were bigger and more widespread, other people would know more about it," said Willye, who wears her red hair cropped short.

"I know other Olympic prospects like Charlie Greene and Ralph Boston have the same reaction I do. How can you say you won't compete in the Olympics until you make the team? Nobody makes you go out and run, you do it on your own."

Miss White, who won the third place silver medal in the 1956 Olympics broad jump, pointed out that the U.S. Olympic team is financed by public contributions.

Beavers Are Tall, Quick, Deep; Stockdale Envisions Good Year

Lloyd Stockdale posted 12-6 marks in his first two seasons as Beaver Local basketball coach and this year he is out to break the school's all-time best of 12-5.

The Beavers have four returning lettermen, but more important, according to Stockdale, is that they have mobile height and depth. The Returning lettermen are seniors, 6-1 Mike Piatt, 6-1 Dave Horger, 6-4 Rex Campbell and 6-0 Dennis Klembara. Campbell and Klembara started last year, but Klembara will not be available until January because of a leg injury suffered during football season.

Others on the squad are seniors Bob Squires, 5-10; Jim Reese, 5-10; and Joe Petkovich, 6-1; and juniors Bob Flint, 5-10; Dan Myers, 5-11; Rick Metz, 6-1; and Dave Mason, 6-4.

The Beavers lost all-Ohio Bill Barnhart, Jeff Hall and Don Lyle, starters on last year's club, plus Richard Dunn and Howard Matheny.

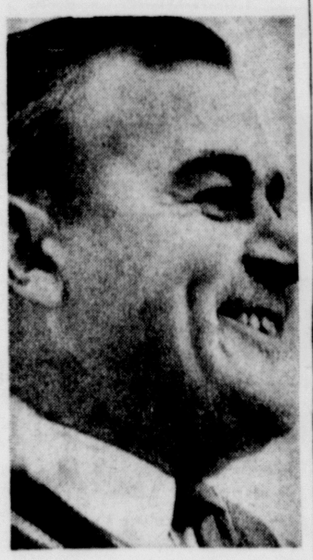

"We have the potential to be a fine club," Stockdale admits. "We have good shooting and fair height". He says the Beavers will try to fast break but will use a patterned offense against a zone defense. With eight men available to shuttle in and out Stockdale will use a pressure man-to-man defense.

Although the Beavers are the consensus of the coaches to win the Buckeye Border Conference, Stockdale tabs Wellsville and Springfield Local as hurdles. Oak Glen and North Lima are tough non-conference teams on the Beavers' schedue.

The schedule:

U.S.-Russia Dual Meets May Resume

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Amateur Athletic Union is pondering the possibility that the United States and Russia may resume dual sports event rivalry.

David A. Matlin, AAU president, said a proposition had been received from Russia for the repayment by Russia, over a period of years, of the some $125,000 in losses to the United States due to cancellation of the 1966 dual track meet at Los Angeles.

Russia said its athletes backed out of the meet as a protest against U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war.

Matlin said the situation will be taken up by various AAU committees in track and field, swimming, basketball, wrestling, boxing, gymnastics and other sports.

The AAU's 80th annual convention here ends Saturday.

Sanders Rated Choice In Cajun Golf Event

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — The $35,000 Cajun Classic Golf Tournament opens today with dapper Doug Sanders ranked as the favorite.

Other former Cajun champions in the field included Jackie Cupit, Miller Barber, Babe Hiskey and Lafayette's two golfing brothers, Lionel and Jay Hebert—the only brothers to win the coveted PGA crown.

Hart To Dave Williams Young Cardinal Battery

ST. LOUIS (AP) — If youth means anything, the Jim Hart-to-Dave Williams passing combination should be a vital part of the St. Louis Cardinals offense for years to come.

Much has been written about the rapid development of the 23-year-old Hart into a starting quarterback in the National Football League. In his second year as a pro, Hart has completed 146-of-309 passes for 15 touchdowns.

And one of the young quarterback's favorite targets is the speedy Williams, who was the team's No. 1 draft choice this year after a brilliant collegiate career at Washington.

In 11 games, Williams has caught 23 passes for 367 yards and a 16-yards-per-catch average. Five times he has scored touchdowns, including two against champion Green Bay on Oct. 30 when the Cardinals lost 31-23.

Williams is the first to admit that stepping into the offensive unit of an NFL team is an awesome task.

Catching a few touchdown passes is good for the confidence, Williams continued, adding with a grin:

"But just when you think you know a lot, along comes a game like the one against the (Chicago) Bears and you feel like an idiot."

The Bears soundly whipped the Cardinals and Williams failed to catch a pass. As a matter of fact, the rugged Chicago defense limited St. Louis to only 14 completions in 42 attempts and Bear defenders intercepted seven.

Last week in a 46-21 loss to Dallas, Williams caught two passes, including a 36-yard touchdown toss.

"With each game," the blond speedster explained, "you see just how much more there is to learn."

The Cardinals, after a fast start, have dropped to a 5-5-1 record and third place in the Eastern Conference's four-team Century division.

Amigos Lose To Austin, Americans

By The Associated Press

John Austin used to score many key points for Boston College in his undergraduate days.

Now a pro, he did the same for the New Jersey Americans in the American Basketball Association Wednesday night to cement a 106-101 victory over the Anaheim Amigos at Teaneck, N.J.

Austin, who had been taken out earlier, came off the bench and scored the last seven points to climax a second-half rally that ended a three-game losing streak for the Americans.

Anaheim held a 16-point lead at 64-48 before the Americans' rally started. Dan Anderson's tio-in put New Jersey ahead for good at 93-92 and Austin's seven consecutive points sewed it up.

Tony Jackson was high scorer for New Jersey with 31 points. Steve Chubin topped the Amigos with 30.

The Houston Mavericks chalked up their fourth straight home victory by beating the Oakland Oaks 102-91. The Kentucky Colonels also won at home, exploding for 42 points in the last quarter to whip the Dallas Chaparrals 111-85 at Louisville in the other ABA game scheduled.

Oakland rallied to within one point at 83-82 with six minutes left, but Houston pulled out of danger with a 10-point burst. Art Becker paced Houston with 21 points. Rod Franz topped Oakland with 28.

Louie Dampier, with 22 points, and Bobby Rascoe, with 21, combined for 43 points to lead Kentucky over Dallas. Bob Verga was high for the Chaparrals with 24.

Bucyk Keeps NHL Bruins Rolling Along

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — John Bucyk is anxious to stand alone as Boston's top goal scorer of all time, but he's even more eager to help keep the surprising Bruins at the top of the National Hockey League's East Division standings.

The veteran winger scored twice in Wednesday night's 5-1 victory over Minnesota to tie Hall of Famer Milt Schmidt as Boston's top career goal producer. He might have had another, but chose instead to pass off to teammate John McKenzie for a surer shot.

The score was 1-1 early in the second period when Bucyk took a pass from center Fred Stanfield at the left of the North Stars' net. It looked like a probable goal, but McKenzie was all alone on the right for a certain one, so Bucyk slid the puck to him.

Later Bucyk banged in his 12th and 13th goals of the season to nail down the victory and keep the Bruins two points ahead of Toronto, which defeated Montreal 2-1.

"Records—I got a lot of time to break those," Bucyk said. "When you've got a man in front of an open net the way McKenzie was, you have to make sure."

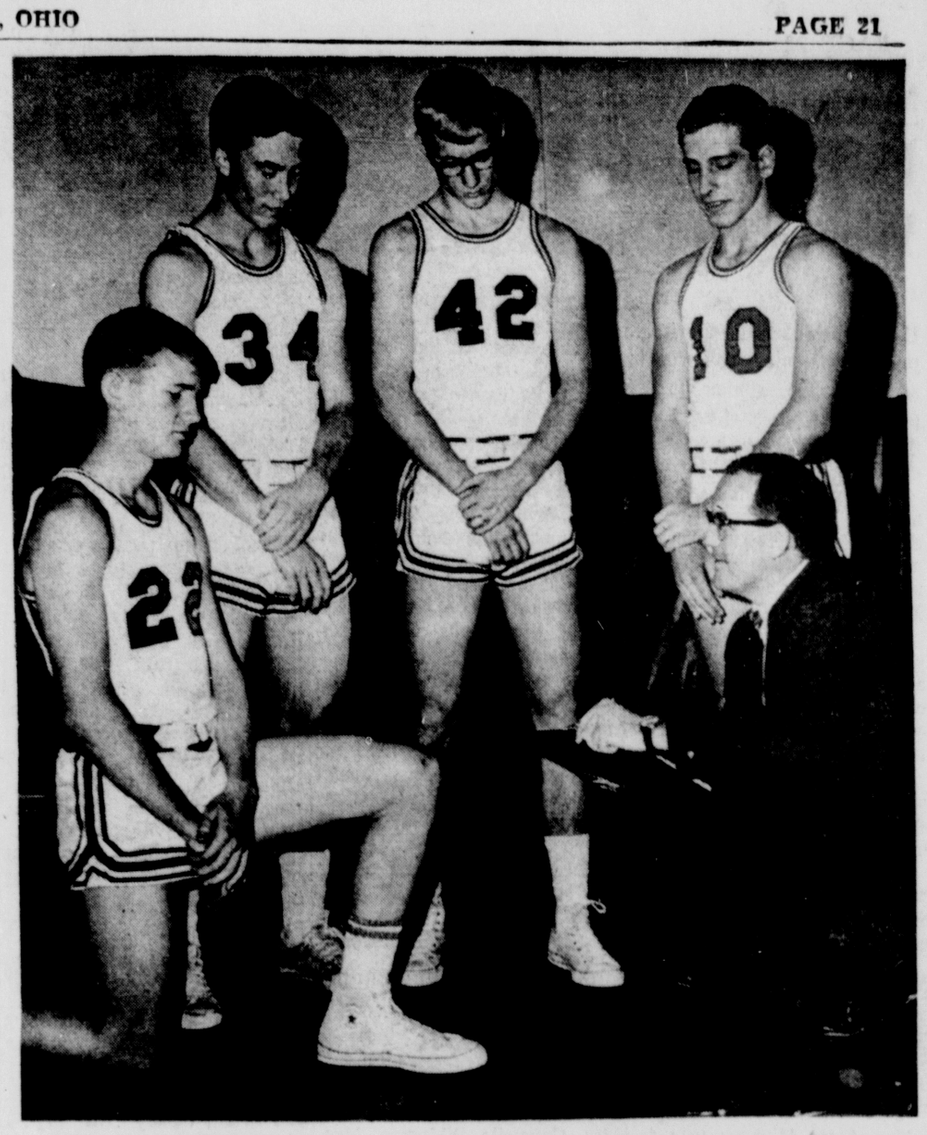

Bucyk tipped in his own rebound for his first goal and managed to get control of a bouncing puck and shove it past goalie Cesare Maniago for his second—bringing forth a lengthy ovation when it was announced that he had tied Schmidt's Boston career mark of 229.

Elsewhere Wednesday night, Toronto edged Montreal 2-1; Detroit topped New York 3-1, Chicago beat Philadelphia 3-1, Pittsburgh drubbed Oakland 6-1 and St. Louis shaded Los Angeles 3-2.

Frank Mahovlich returned to the Toronto line-up after a 28-day absence and set up Mike Walton's first-period goal before Jim Pappin gave the Maple Leafs a 2-0 lead in the final session. Montreal's Gilles Tremblay ruined Johnny Bower's shutout bid with less than two minutes to play.

Keith McCreary, with two goals, and Bob Dillabough, with a goal and two assists, led Pittsburgh's assault. Gene Ubriaco, Andy Bathgate and Ab McDonald completed the Penguin scoring while Gerry Ehman's third-period tally for the Seals deprived goalie Les Binkley of a shutout.

Racing Bill Needs Signature

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer will await a report from the Attorney General's Office before deciding whether to sign or veto legislation that would legalize thoroughbred horse racing in Pennsylvania.

"We have no position on this bill, and we'll wait until we receive the attorney general's analysis," an aide to the governor said Wednesday after the meaure was cleared by the General Assembly.

The House approved the legislation, 126-70, after unsuccessful attempts to recommit the bill and to amend it with a provision for local option.

Similar bills have been defeated in almost every previous legislative session.

Shafer had said earlier he would sign a thoroughbred racing bill if it were passed in "proper form." Atty. Gen. William C. Sennett decides whether a bill is in proper form.

If the bill is signed by the governor, Pennsylvania will become the 29th state permitting pari-mutual gambling on thoroughbred racing. Harness racing was legalized in the commonwealth under an act approved in 1959.

Senate Majority Whip Albert R. Pechan, R-Armstrong, chief sponsor of the bill, said he was delighted with the House's action because "our educational system will benefit as a result of the revenue derived."

Under the bill, which the Senate passed last week, a thoroughbred racing commission would be created to license four operations, the number licensed under the Harness Racing Act.

No harness racing association could be licensed to conduct thoroughbred racing, but nothing would stop a thoroughbred association from leasing a harness track. At present, there are three harness tracks, located in Philadelphia, Washington and Luzerne counties.

Four associations are licensed to conduct harness races, and the Senate has released from committee a House bill to authorize a fifth license.

Last year, Pennsylvania netted 7.1 million from harness racing, ranking third in the nation. New York was tops with $70.6 million and Illinois, second with $12.9 million.

As in harness racing, the state would collect in taxes 5 per cent of money bet on thoroughbreds and the track would take 1 per cent, much of which would go for purse money and operating costs. Any track located in Philadelphia would take out an extra 2 per cent for school taxes.

Willye White Hits Out At Negro Olympic Boycott

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Willye White, feminine Negro star aiming at her fourth Olympic Games, suggested Wednesday proponents of a boycott of the 1968 Mexico City Olympics by Negro athletes are on the wrong track.

"Boycotting the Olympics is boycotting the nations of the world in a great display of equality and friendship," Miss White, 27, a world class long jumper since the 1956 Melbourne Olympics, told The Associated Press.

"I can suggest specific issues and more specific methods of protest in behalf of Negro status than this boycott proposal which seems to be centered around San Jose, Calif.

"The question could be brought up why don't we have Negroes on our Olympic swimming, gymnastics and many other Olympic units beyond track, basketball and boxing.

"This is something that could be protested directly to the U.S. Olympic Committee, and nothing so vague as an Olympic boycott against a body of nations."

Miss White, a shapely practical nurse and an inoculating technician for the Chicago Board of Health, said her only knowledge of the West Coast boycott movement came from reading newspapers.

"I'm sure if it were bigger and more widespread, other people would know more about it," said Willye, who wears her red hair cropped short.

"I know other Olympic prospects like Charlie Greene and Ralph Boston have the same reaction I do. How can you say you won't compete in the Olympics until you make the team? Nobody makes you go out and run, you do it on your own."

Miss White, who won the third place silver medal in the 1956 Olympics broad jump, pointed out that the U.S. Olympic team is financed by public contributions.

Miracle It Hasn't Occurred Here

U.S. Pesticide Expert Warns Of Mass Poisoning

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A U.S. pesticide expert says it is a miracle that mass poisoning by an insecticide, similar to the poisoning of scores of persons in Colombia last week, has not occurred in this country.

"It could happen," says Dr. Samuel W. Simmons, chief of the U.S. Public Health Service's pesticides program at the Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta.

At least 76 men, women, and children in Chiquinquira, Colombia died last weekend after eating bread poisoned with a deadly insecticide whose effects are similar to nerve gas.

Another 86 Colombians are reported in critical condition despite antidotes rushed to Colombia from the United States.

More than 50 state and local health officials are meeting with Simmons in a conference on the investigation of chemical poisonings such as those in Colombia.

Commenting on the possibility of similar deaths in the United States, Simmons said in an interview there is little real regulation of the purchase or the transportation of pesticides.

"Take the loading of pesticides aboard ship, for instance. Ships are supposed never to load food with pesticides or poison. But the list of poisons is not kept up to date. A pesticide not on the list simply isn't considered poison," he said.

The recent deaths in Colombia, as well as poisonings in Mexico, Arcadia, Fla. and St. Louis, Mo., show the need for training state and local health officials in modern techniques of investigating chemical poisonings, Simmons said.

More than 400 persons are now employed by the U.S. Public Health Service in the pesticides program based in Atlanta.

Had Criticized Program

Labor Leaders To Back Plans To Rebuild Cities

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Labor leaders, who recently criticized as "dreamers" the architects of federal plans to start rebuilding the nation's cities, pledged today full cooperation with the program.

With past differences apparently forgotten, the AFL-CIO building and construction trades department planned a red carpet welcome for Secretary Robert C. Weaver of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The appearance of Weaver, the only Negro in President Johnson's Cabinet, followed a proposal by the construction unions to help train Negro youths for slum rebuilding work.

"We should work with and help train these youths when they apply and show serious intent," said C.J. Haggerty, president of the 18-union group.

The question of bringing unskilled Negro slum youths into union apprenticeship programs has long been a source of friction between labor leaders and some government officials.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said Wednesday Haggerty's proposal was encouraging if the unions will follow through with it, and might help keep the government from having to act as a "policeman" over equal job opportunities.

Haggerty pledged to Weaver "our full cooperation, our know-how, our resources and our manpower in the vast program of rebuilding our cities."

Policemen Get New Backing On 'Stop And Frisk'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rallying to the side of policemen, the Justice Department has stepped into a Supreme Court debate on "stop and frisk" laws with a plea that current street questioning procedures be stamped constitutional.

Limited detention of suspicious-looking persons on the street without an arrest warrant and frisking them for weapons for the policeman's self-protection is consistent with the Fourth Amendment's ban on unreasonable searches and seizures, Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold told the court Wednesday.

The Justice Department is not a party to the three stop-and-frisk cases the court is scheduled to hear Dec. 11. It volunteered its views, Griswold said, because federal agents often face the same problem as local policemen—the need "to stop and detain persons for a limited period of time in order to obtain and verify information."

Seventy per cent of the $7 million of U.S. paper money printed each day is in $1 bills.

Miracle It Hasn't Occurred Here

U.S. Pesticide Expert Warns Of Mass Poisoning

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A U.S. pesticide expert says it is a miracle that mass poisoning by an insecticide, similar to the poisoning of scores of persons in Colombia last week, has not occurred in this country.

"It could happen," says Dr. Samuel W. Simmons, chief of the U.S. Public Health Service's pesticides program at the Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta.

At least 76 men, women, and children in Chiquinquira, Colombia died last weekend after eating bread poisoned with a deadly insecticide whose effects are similar to nerve gas.

Another 86 Colombians are reported in critical condition despite antidotes rushed to Colombia from the United States.

More than 50 state and local health officials are meeting with Simmons in a conference on the investigation of chemical poisonings such as those in Colombia.

Commenting on the possibility of similar deaths in the United States, Simmons said in an interview there is little real regulation of the purchase or the transportation of pesticides.

"Take the loading of pesticides aboard ship, for instance. Ships are supposed never to load food with pesticides or poison. But the list of poisons is not kept up to date. A pesticide not on the list simply isn't considered poison," he said.

The recent deaths in Colombia, as well as poisonings in Mexico, Arcadia, Fla. and St. Louis, Mo., show the need for training state and local health officials in modern techniques of investigating chemical poisonings, Simmons said.

More than 400 persons are now employed by the U.S. Public Health Service in the pesticides program based in Atlanta.

Had Criticized Program

Labor Leaders To Back Plans To Rebuild Cities

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Labor leaders, who recently criticized as "dreamers" the architects of federal plans to start rebuilding the nation's cities, pledged today full cooperation with the program.

With past differences apparently forgotten, the AFL-CIO building and construction trades department planned a red carpet welcome for Secretary Robert C. Weaver of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The appearance of Weaver, the only Negro in President Johnson's Cabinet, followed a proposal by the construction unions to help train Negro youths for slum rebuilding work.

"We should work with and help train these youths when they apply and show serious intent," said C.J. Haggerty, president of the 18-union group.

The question of bringing unskilled Negro slum youths into union apprenticeship programs has long been a source of friction between labor leaders and some government officials.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said Wednesday Haggerty's proposal was encouraging if the unions will follow through with it, and might help keep the government from having to act as a "policeman" over equal job opportunities.

Haggerty pledged to Weaver "our full cooperation, our know-how, our resources and our manpower in the vast program of rebuilding our cities."

Policemen Get New Backing On 'Stop And Frisk'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rallying to the side of policemen, the Justice Department has stepped into a Supreme Court debate on "stop and frisk" laws with a plea that current street questioning procedures be stamped constitutional.

Limited detention of suspicious-looking persons on the street without an arrest warrant and frisking them for weapons for the policeman's self-protection is consistent with the Fourth Amendment's ban on unreasonable searches and seizures, Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold told the court Wednesday.

The Justice Department is not a party to the three stop-and-frisk cases the court is scheduled to hear Dec. 11. It volunteered its views, Griswold said, because federal agents often face the same problem as local policemen—the need "to stop and detain persons for a limited period of time in order to obtain and verify information."

Seventy per cent of the $7 million of U.S. paper money printed each day is in $1 bills.

Probation Set In Check Case

A Midland man involved in the theft of checks was placed on probation during a sentencing session in Beaver County Court Wednesday afternoon.

Hollis Ray Oliver of Midland entered a plea of guilty to forgery and receiving stolen goods. He was involved in the theft of checks stolen from the Midland Division of the Crucible Steel Co.

He was placed on four - year probation, ordered to pay court costs, a $200 fine and make restitution of $864.79.

Two weeks of criminal court will open Monday. The first case will be that of six young men charged with an attempted jail break last summer at the Beaver County Jail.

There are now 54 cases on the list, but the number will be reduced by pleas and continuances.

Judge James Rowley granted a continuance in the case of Robert George McChesney of Raccoon Township, charged with voluntary manslaughter, involuntary manslaughter and assault with intent to kill. His defense attorney will be out of the county during the forhcoming court term.

McChesney is accused of shooting one youth who was killed and wounding another in an incident on his property last summer.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

TV News Coverage Criticized

Former CBS correspondent David Schoenbrun doesn't believe TV is living up to the Fairness Doctrine prescribed by the Federal Communications Commission.

Hal Humphrey

"With the best intentions in the world, TV's news departments still are victims of the nature of the beast," says Schoenbrun. "I know it isn't easy to do, but each time one of our country's leaders is covered by TV in press conference, or however, it behooves somebody in the operation to get the opposition on the air in the same program."

-:-

AS TWO prime examples, Schoenbrun points to President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, both of whom have only to announce a press conference to get covered by all three TV networks.

"But when the President announces that he will meet any emissary from Hanoi any time and any place, he should be asked on what terms he will meet this emissary. He knows such an offer will be rejected by Hanoi, and if the questions from the press don't bring this out, TV should have someone on the same program who will bring it out," Schoenbrun states.

As he stated, however, Schoenbrun is not accusing TV of any foul play in this regard. He believes the medium's intentions are right, but that, because it is difficult in the press of time and other exigencies to always find someone on the opposite side of an issue, TV too often takes the line of least resistance.

"IT'S TOUGH to do, but the effort to find the opposition must be made since there is so much at stake," Schoenbrun adds.

"Take, for example, that fateful day when the late Sen. Joe McCarthy announced he had the names of 175 Communists in our State Department. Secretary of State Dean Acheson should have been given time on TV and space in newspapers that same day to call Sen. McCarthy a liar."

In the same general area Schoenbrun faults TV for covering too much combat news and not enough on the issues of the war and our stake in it.

"After a long period of uncertainty, TV now is coming through with some great things on the war in Vietnam, such as CBS' two-part 'Where We Stand in Vietnam' with Charles Collingwood reporting, but still it isn't enough. TV can do better than it is doing," maintains Schoenbrun.

EXCEPT for the New York Times' Harrison Salisbury, the only American correspondent to get to Hanoi and interview Ho Chi Minh has been Schoenbrun, who got there last summer.

"It was 21 years ago that I first met Ho Chi Minh. I was with CBS in Paris, and he came there to confer with the French government," Schoenbrun recalls. "During his stay I had him at my house for dinner one evening, so last June I wrote him a letter reminding him of this and informing him my wife and I were traveling in Asia and we would like to call on him.

"In the Orient, where face is so important, I figured he couldn't turn us down, and in little more than a month I received a message and a visa in Cambodia. I'm sure that was faster than Salisbury received his visa."

SCHOENBRUN wrote a series of articles from Hanoi and sold them to a group of U.S. newspapers.

Prior to his present free lancing, Schoenbrun was Paris correspondent for CBS for 15 years, then for a short time beginning in 1962 headed up the CBS Washington bureau. He had not wanted to leave Paris in the first place, so his resignation from CBS' Washington bureau, to which he had been transferred, was no surprise to his colleagues.

Last week Schoenbrun was in Los Angeles to speak before the recently formed Business Executives Move for Vietnam Peace, of which Los Angeles businessman Harold Willens is national cochairman. Schoenbrun is critical of U.S. policy in Vietnam.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an effort to restore world confidence in the stability of the pound, the International Monetary Fund has approved a $1.4 billion loan to Britain.

Set up so that Britain may draw from it over the next year, the loan is part of a $3 billion cushion the British seek to strengthen the pound and the domestic economy of the United Kingdom.

The fund's action had been expected since Britain devalued the pound Nov. 18 from $2.80 to $2.40.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Negro pupil's protest has prompted Washington educators to relax their requirement for recital of the pledge of allegiance at the start of each school day.

Civil liberties supporters sought the change on behalf of a 15-year-old girl who refused to salute the flag. The girl contended Negroes are denied the "liberty and justice for all" attributed to the United States in the pledge.

The District of Columbia Board of Education changed its regulations to continue the daily pledge of allegiance, but to exempt students declining to take part from any form of punishment or reprimand.

Capital Quote

"If I had my way—and it may be a blessing I haven't—I would give draft card burners a good lashing and a good haircut, I would give beatniks the same, and I would give hippies a haircut on the face and then the head, then get a horse curry brush and give them a good bath. If I could I would put these combinations of odds and ends on the front lines with the enemy in front and a bayonet in back."—Eddie V. Rickenbacker, World War I ace and airline executive.

Cars Helped Boost Living Costs .3% During October

WASHINGTON (AP)— Living costs rose three - tenths of one per cent in October, mainly because of higher prices for new automobiles, clothing and services, the government reported.

Food prices dropped two-tenths of one per cent, but this was less than seasonal, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

In its annual evaluation of automobile prices, the bureau said new car prices went up with introduction of the 1968 model, with retail prices averaging 2.7 per cent higher than a year ago. Manufacturers' prices averaged just 2 per cent above a year ago, after allowance for net quality improvements in 1968 models.

The balance of the retail price increase was attributed to smaller dealer discounts and trade-in allowances and higher sales taxes in certain states as well as higher freight charges.

The actual increase in manufacturers' prices for cars averaged $87.54. The bureau said that $29.65 of this increase should be attributed to safety improvements and $11.20 to changes designed to reduce the output of air pollutants.

Commissioner Arthur M. Ross told a news conference that the increase in car prices is "about in line with other durable goods."

The consumer price index for October was 117.5 which means it took $11.75 to purchase goods and services that cost $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based. The October index was up 2.6 per cent from a year ago.

Ross said the trend of prices in family living costs in October and November seems to be a continuation of "what we have seen in the last six months."

The wholesale price index declined one-tenth of one per cent because of a continued drop in prices of farm and food products. Industrial commodities averaged three-tenths of one per cent higher.

Clothing prices continued a strong advance, especially women's and girls' apparel which showed the largest October increase since 1950. Retail prices are up more than 4 per cent over the past year.

Appliance prices were generally higher on new models introduced in October, with washing machines, dryers and refrigerators leading the list.

In the food category, pork and poultry were cheaper, but beef averaged the same as in September. Apples, grapefruit and vegetables advanced.

Gasoline prices fell more than four per cent at wholesale and one per cent at retail.

Charges for consumer services rose three-tenths of one per cent, which included a five-tenths of one per cent increase for medical care and housekeeping services.

Board Chairman Urges Speed

No Signs In Congress To Get Tax Bill Rolling

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are no signs the Johnson administration's last-minute push for quick enactment of a tax boost has started the measure rolling through Congress.

"Psychologically the need is to do something and do it fast," Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board told the House Ways and Means Committee.

But at the opening hearing Wednesday no committee member said anything that challenged Chairman Wilbur D. Mills' pronouncement that passage of a tax measure before Congress adjourns for 1967 would be impossible.

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, one of the few committee members who has publicly spoken of the need to raise taxes to reduce the federal deficit, asked Budget Director Charles L. Schultze whether it would not be wise to wait until the time for drawing up the new budget—probably late January—before deciding on a tax increase.

Schultze disagreed, as did Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler.

Fowler told Vanik, who had suggested Americans might resent a tax increase justified largely by effects of devaluing the British pound, "This is not a passing situation. For months we have been urging the need of a tax increase."

Several members focused on Schultze's testimony that the prospective deficit, which had been forecast at up to $29 billion —and which President Johnson at one point said might reach $35 billion—is now calculated at $22.5 billion.

Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., asked whether as large a tax increase is needed in view of a smaller deficit. The administration witnesses stuck to their recommendations.

These, identical with those Johnson made in August, are for a 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes, retroactive to July 1 for corporations and Oct. 1 for individuals. There would also be a speedup in corporate tax collections while the lowering of some excise taxes would be postponed.

The package is estimated to yield $7.4 billion, of which $6.3 billion would come from the income surcharge.

Fowler told Burke that a 6 per cent surcharge effective Jan. 1 would yield only $2 billion during the fiscal year ending June 30—the one presenting the immediate deficit threat.

The administration package also includes spending limits, to be written into law, estimated to require departments to economize by more than $4 billion this year.

Probation Set In Check Case

A Midland man involved in the theft of checks was placed on probation during a sentencing session in Beaver County Court Wednesday afternoon.

Hollis Ray Oliver of Midland entered a plea of guilty to forgery and receiving stolen goods. He was involved in the theft of checks stolen from the Midland Division of the Crucible Steel Co.

He was placed on four - year probation, ordered to pay court costs, a $200 fine and make restitution of $864.79.

Two weeks of criminal court will open Monday. The first case will be that of six young men charged with an attempted jail break last summer at the Beaver County Jail.

There are now 54 cases on the list, but the number will be reduced by pleas and continuances.

Judge James Rowley granted a continuance in the case of Robert George McChesney of Raccoon Township, charged with voluntary manslaughter, involuntary manslaughter and assault with intent to kill. His defense attorney will be out of the county during the forhcoming court term.

McChesney is accused of shooting one youth who was killed and wounding another in an incident on his property last summer.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

TV News Coverage Criticized

Former CBS correspondent David Schoenbrun doesn't believe TV is living up to the Fairness Doctrine prescribed by the Federal Communications Commission.

Hal Humphrey

"With the best intentions in the world, TV's news departments still are victims of the nature of the beast," says Schoenbrun. "I know it isn't easy to do, but each time one of our country's leaders is covered by TV in press conference, or however, it behooves somebody in the operation to get the opposition on the air in the same program."

-:-

AS TWO prime examples, Schoenbrun points to President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, both of whom have only to announce a press conference to get covered by all three TV networks.

"But when the President announces that he will meet any emissary from Hanoi any time and any place, he should be asked on what terms he will meet this emissary. He knows such an offer will be rejected by Hanoi, and if the questions from the press don't bring this out, TV should have someone on the same program who will bring it out," Schoenbrun states.

As he stated, however, Schoenbrun is not accusing TV of any foul play in this regard. He believes the medium's intentions are right, but that, because it is difficult in the press of time and other exigencies to always find someone on the opposite side of an issue, TV too often takes the line of least resistance.

"IT'S TOUGH to do, but the effort to find the opposition must be made since there is so much at stake," Schoenbrun adds.

"Take, for example, that fateful day when the late Sen. Joe McCarthy announced he had the names of 175 Communists in our State Department. Secretary of State Dean Acheson should have been given time on TV and space in newspapers that same day to call Sen. McCarthy a liar."

In the same general area Schoenbrun faults TV for covering too much combat news and not enough on the issues of the war and our stake in it.

"After a long period of uncertainty, TV now is coming through with some great things on the war in Vietnam, such as CBS' two-part 'Where We Stand in Vietnam' with Charles Collingwood reporting, but still it isn't enough. TV can do better than it is doing," maintains Schoenbrun.

EXCEPT for the New York Times' Harrison Salisbury, the only American correspondent to get to Hanoi and interview Ho Chi Minh has been Schoenbrun, who got there last summer.

"It was 21 years ago that I first met Ho Chi Minh. I was with CBS in Paris, and he came there to confer with the French government," Schoenbrun recalls. "During his stay I had him at my house for dinner one evening, so last June I wrote him a letter reminding him of this and informing him my wife and I were traveling in Asia and we would like to call on him.

"In the Orient, where face is so important, I figured he couldn't turn us down, and in little more than a month I received a message and a visa in Cambodia. I'm sure that was faster than Salisbury received his visa."

SCHOENBRUN wrote a series of articles from Hanoi and sold them to a group of U.S. newspapers.

Prior to his present free lancing, Schoenbrun was Paris correspondent for CBS for 15 years, then for a short time beginning in 1962 headed up the CBS Washington bureau. He had not wanted to leave Paris in the first place, so his resignation from CBS' Washington bureau, to which he had been transferred, was no surprise to his colleagues.

Last week Schoenbrun was in Los Angeles to speak before the recently formed Business Executives Move for Vietnam Peace, of which Los Angeles businessman Harold Willens is national cochairman. Schoenbrun is critical of U.S. policy in Vietnam.

Cars Helped Boost Living Costs .3% During October

WASHINGTON (AP)— Living costs rose three - tenths of one per cent in October, mainly because of higher prices for new automobiles, clothing and services, the government reported.

Food prices dropped two-tenths of one per cent, but this was less than seasonal, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

In its annual evaluation of automobile prices, the bureau said new car prices went up with introduction of the 1968 model, with retail prices averaging 2.7 per cent higher than a year ago. Manufacturers' prices averaged just 2 per cent above a year ago, after allowance for net quality improvements in 1968 models.

The balance of the retail price increase was attributed to smaller dealer discounts and trade-in allowances and higher sales taxes in certain states as well as higher freight charges.

The actual increase in manufacturers' prices for cars averaged $87.54. The bureau said that $29.65 of this increase should be attributed to safety improvements and $11.20 to changes designed to reduce the output of air pollutants.

Commissioner Arthur M. Ross told a news conference that the increase in car prices is "about in line with other durable goods."

The consumer price index for October was 117.5 which means it took $11.75 to purchase goods and services that cost $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based. The October index was up 2.6 per cent from a year ago.

Ross said the trend of prices in family living costs in October and November seems to be a continuation of "what we have seen in the last six months."

The wholesale price index declined one-tenth of one per cent because of a continued drop in prices of farm and food products. Industrial commodities averaged three-tenths of one per cent higher.

Clothing prices continued a strong advance, especially women's and girls' apparel which showed the largest October increase since 1950. Retail prices are up more than 4 per cent over the past year.

Appliance prices were generally higher on new models introduced in October, with washing machines, dryers and refrigerators leading the list.

In the food category, pork and poultry were cheaper, but beef averaged the same as in September. Apples, grapefruit and vegetables advanced.

Gasoline prices fell more than four per cent at wholesale and one per cent at retail.

Charges for consumer services rose three-tenths of one per cent, which included a five-tenths of one per cent increase for medical care and housekeeping services.

Board Chairman Urges Speed

No Signs In Congress To Get Tax Bill Rolling

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are no signs the Johnson administration's last-minute push for quick enactment of a tax boost has started the measure rolling through Congress.

"Psychologically the need is to do something and do it fast," Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board told the House Ways and Means Committee.

But at the opening hearing Wednesday no committee member said anything that challenged Chairman Wilbur D. Mills' pronouncement that passage of a tax measure before Congress adjourns for 1967 would be impossible.

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, one of the few committee members who has publicly spoken of the need to raise taxes to reduce the federal deficit, asked Budget Director Charles L. Schultze whether it would not be wise to wait until the time for drawing up the new budget—probably late January—before deciding on a tax increase.

Schultze disagreed, as did Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler.

Fowler told Vanik, who had suggested Americans might resent a tax increase justified largely by effects of devaluing the British pound, "This is not a passing situation. For months we have been urging the need of a tax increase."

Several members focused on Schultze's testimony that the prospective deficit, which had been forecast at up to $29 billion —and which President Johnson at one point said might reach $35 billion—is now calculated at $22.5 billion.

Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., asked whether as large a tax increase is needed in view of a smaller deficit. The administration witnesses stuck to their recommendations.

These, identical with those Johnson made in August, are for a 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes, retroactive to July 1 for corporations and Oct. 1 for individuals. There would also be a speedup in corporate tax collections while the lowering of some excise taxes would be postponed.

The package is estimated to yield $7.4 billion, of which $6.3 billion would come from the income surcharge.

Fowler told Burke that a 6 per cent surcharge effective Jan. 1 would yield only $2 billion during the fiscal year ending June 30—the one presenting the immediate deficit threat.

The administration package also includes spending limits, to be written into law, estimated to require departments to economize by more than $4 billion this year.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an effort to restore world confidence in the stability of the pound, the International Monetary Fund has approved a $1.4 billion loan to Britain.

Set up so that Britain may draw from it over the next year, the loan is part of a $3 billion cushion the British seek to strengthen the pound and the domestic economy of the United Kingdom.

The fund's action had been expected since Britain devalued the pound Nov. 18 from $2.80 to $2.40.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Negro pupil's protest has prompted Washington educators to relax their requirement for recital of the pledge of allegiance at the start of each school day.

Civil liberties supporters sought the change on behalf of a 15-year-old girl who refused to salute the flag. The girl contended Negroes are denied the "liberty and justice for all" attributed to the United States in the pledge.

The District of Columbia Board of Education changed its regulations to continue the daily pledge of allegiance, but to exempt students declining to take part from any form of punishment or reprimand.

Capital Quote

"If I had my way—and it may be a blessing I haven't—I would give draft card burners a good lashing and a good haircut. I would give beatniks the same, and I would give hippies a haircut on the face and then the head, then get a horse curry brush and give them a good bath. If I could I would put these combinations of odds and ends on the front lines with the enemy in front and a bayonet in back."—Eddie V. Rickenbacker, World War I ace and airline executive.

WHAT is A CUSTOMER?

A CUSTOMER is the most important person ever in our office . . . in person or by mail.

A CUSTOMER is not dependent on us . . . we are dependent on him.

A CUSTOMER is not an interruption of our work . . . he is the purpose of it. We are not doing him a favor by serving him . . . he is doing us a favor by giving us the opportunity to do so.

A CUSTOMER is not an outsider to our business . . . he is a part of it.

A CUSTOMER is not a cold statistic . . . he is a flesh-and-blood human being with feelings and emotions like your own, and with biases and prejudices.

A CUSTOMER is not someone to argue or match wits with. Nobody ever won an argument with a customer.

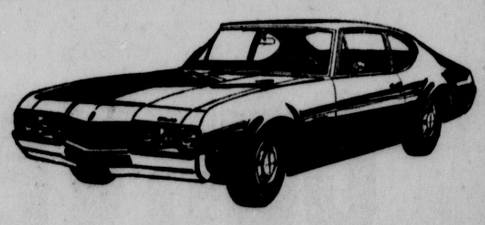

A CUSTOMER is a person who brings us his wants. It is our job to handle them profitably to him and to ourselves.

WHAT is A CUSTOMER?
A CUSTOMER is the most important person ever in our office . . . in person or by mail.
A CUSTOMER is not dependent on us . . . we are dependent on him.
A CUSTOMER is not an interruption of our work . . . he is the purpose of it. We are not doing him a favor by serving him . . . he is doing us a favor by giving us the opportunity to do so.
A CUSTOMER is not an outsider to our business . . . he is a part of it.
A CUSTOMER is not a cold statistic . . . he is a flesh-and-blood human being with feelings and emotions like your own, and with biases and prejudices.
A CUSTOMER is not someone to argue or match wits with. Nobody ever won an argument with a customer.
A CUSTOMER is a person who brings us his wants. It is our job to handle them profitably to him and to ourselves.

A Junior Editors Quiz About HONEYBEES

QUESTION: Where do honeybees go in the winter?

ANSWER: At the upper left we see a worker bee sucking nectar, which, along with a lump of pollen, she carries to the home hive, located, in this case, inside a hollow tree. The nectar is carried in a special "honey stomach," which contains chemicals that help it to turn into honey. Honey and pollen are stored in the wax comb cells and used in various ways during the summer. As fall comes, the honey flow stops. But the bees collected and stored more honey and pollen than they needed. As the cold weather comes, they gather inside the hive in clusters over the cells stored with food which can be used in the winter. Huddling together for warmth, and moving their wings, they can keep the temperature of a cluster at between 50 and 60 degrees, warm enough so they can survive. Beekeepers who keep their bee colonies in hives are careful to see that the bees have enough food available and that the hive boxes are sheltered. Hive boxes are frequently placed inside larger boxes, with insulating material between.
